TIGHT SHOT - THE FACE OF THE 8:01 COMMUTER TRAIN filling the screen and MOVING TOWARD CAMERA.

EXT. TRAIN DEPOT - LAKE FOREST - MORNING

The herd of commuters waiting on the platform as the train slows.

INT. TRAIN - COACH CAR - DOUBLE TIERED

Mostly businessmen. Briefcases. Morning papers. CALVIN JARRETT, 40, moves down aisle. Sees a familiar face. A woman. MITZI. She sits in the upper tier. They recognize each other, then they don't and then they do. The train starts to move. Calvin holds on to a metal bar as he looks up.

CALVIN
Hello. How are you? Mitzi.

MITZI
Very well. Yes. Thank you.
Cal. Nice to see you.

Long time.

CALVIN

MITZI
Long time.

CALVIN Travelling early.

MITZI
Oh, well, it's my old Chicago dentist.

CALVIN
Who do you go to?

MITZI O'Hara.

CALVIN
We go to Willens.

MITZI
O'Hara never hurts me. Is Willens in Chicago?

CONTINUED:

CALVIN
Willens never touches a nerve, he's right here in Lake Forest.

MITZI
How's Beth and everybody? You look wonderful, how was your summer?

CALVIN
Fine, good, you? Bart? How's Bart?

He's fine.

MITZI
Your summer?

CALVIN
Superduper. We went to Muliner for two months. Jeep managed to break her leg.

How old is Jeep now?

MITZI
She'll be fourteen. David'll be eleven. Did you finally move?

CALVIN
Nope. Added on instead. You?

MITZI
We're moving next month.

CALVIN
Oh? Really? Where? Away?

MITZI
Oh, no, here... to Koob Lake.

CALVIN
Ahh, Koob. Love Koob. Big house?

MITZI Bigger.

CALVIN
More square footage, huh?

MITZI
Oh, God, thousands, and Bart wants a tennis court. Once it's in, you'll have to come over. Beth can beat everybody, she still the champion?

CALVIN
You know Beth.

MITZI
Give her my best.

CALVIN
I will. And say hello to Bart. And sorry about Jeep's leg.

MITZI
Thank you so much. Bye now.

Calvin starts away. Then Mitzi calls:

MITZI
(continuing) Oh, Cal?

Calvin turns.

MITZI
(continuing) How's Conrad?

CALVIN
Fine. Just fine. Thanks.

MITZI
Sorry about everything.

CALVIN
Thanks, Mitzi. (a sincere smile)

He hesitates, then moves on. Sits down with a group of men ready to play cards.

SHOT - MITZI reading her magazine, glances out window.

HER REFLECTION
It exposes something in her look that is tired, troubled.
SHOT - CALVIN AND HIS FRIENDS

Half awake, one is dealing cards. A large Schlitz sign laid across their knees serves as a table. Silence. The cards are dealt. It's been going on for years. As they start to play cards, and OVER CREDITS, we HEAR a church choir SINGING an Episcopal Hymn.

CHOIR
Land of our birth, we pledge to thee
Our lives and toil in the years to be.
When we are grown and take our place
As men and women with our race.

Father in Heaven, who lovest all,
Oh, help Thy children when they call.
That they may build from age to age
An undefiled heritage.

END CREDITS

HIGH SHOT - THE TRAIN

as it moves away from CAMERA toward Chicago.

SHOT - COFFEE TABLE

Coffee being poured into four cups.

WIDER ANGLE

Two couples -- CAMPEBELL and NANCY (the hosts) and Calvin and BETH Jarrett. They are watching the coffee being poured. Beth sits on the arm of the couch near Calvin. She is very good-looking. Black hair, tightly pulled back. Classic bone structure. A beauty. A wonderful smile. Cheese cake has already been cut and served.

CAMPEBELL
Well, their old one was about, I d'know, maybe eight thousand square feet.

NANCY
You know the Robinson's new house? It's going to be thirteen thousand square feet.

CONTINUED:

CAMPBELL
Where'd you hear that?

CALVIN
How many fireplaces?

CAMPBELL
Thirteen thousand square feet, I've gotta see it.

NANCY
As Campbell gets older he likes to see everybody's house. Sweet and Low?

CALVIN
Cheese cake's on the button, Nance.

BETH
(to Calvin)
Watch it, Valentino, there goes two weeks of jogging.

CAMPBELL
(points at Nancy)
Hey, Everett Mercer has cancer.

NANCY
Don't point at me, I didn't give it to him. Who told you that?

CAMPBELL
Billy White.

BETH Who's Everett Mercer?

CAMPBELL
My brother-in-law's cousin.

NANCY
Where'd you see Billy White?

CALVIN
How old is he?

CAMPBELL
Forty-six.

BETH
How's your sister's new house?

NANCY
She loves it.

CAMPBELL
It's not worth anything.

CALVIN
(eating cheese cake)
How many fireplaces?

NANCY
How can you say it's not worth anything? Where'd you see Billy White?

CAMPBELL
Because I know Andy and Andy never made a good investment in his life including your sister or that house.

CALVIN (meaning it)
This is great coffee.

NANCY
It's decaffeinated Brim.

CALVIN
Tastes like real coffee. Has anybody seen the commercial with the man on the elephant selling tea?

CAMPBELL
(Indian accent)
'Good evening, is it icy or is it hot?' I can't do it, I have trouble doing Indians.

NANCY
I cannot understand Indian people. Although, during the war, I found the Vietnamese women very attractive.

CALVIN
I predict in four years...
(acting it out)
I predict! Four years! Another war!

CAMPBELL
How many square feet in your house, Calvin?

CALVIN
Forty-one hundred.

Including the garage?

CALVIN
Uh, I'm not sure.

BETH
Nancy, do you use bottled water when you make coffee?

EXT. CAMPBELL AND NANCY'S FRONT DOOR - LONG SHOT

We can see a yellow Porsche in the driveway. The two couples saying goodbye.

NANCY'S VOICE
(o.s.)
I won't have anything but bottled water, and you can let me taste bottled water and tap water and I'll tell you which is which every time.

CAMPBELL'S VOICE
(o.s.)
It's true. She's incredible. Every time. Test her.

EXT. LAKE FOREST RESIDENTIAL STREET - NIGHT

The yellow Porsche on the move.

INT. THE YELLOW PORSCHE

CALVIN
I don't even think they play golf together any more. Is there something between her and Billy White?

BETH
(yawning; trying to stretch)
Oh, I wish we'd take the wagon so I could stretch.

The car stops at a red light. Calvin looks at Beth. Leans over and kisses her cheek. She smiles and kisses her fingertips and touches them to Calvin's face. Then closes her eyes and leans back. The light turns green and the Porsche drives on.
INT. TWO-CAR GARAGE

INT. KITCHEN

Fully equipped. Beth is writing something on a pad of paper.

CALVIN
(stretching)
I feel very nice. You feel very nice?

He kisses her neck.

I'm feeling tired. I didn't stop once today.

CALVIN (whispers)
Go back to sleep.

CONRAD
What's wrong?

CALVIN
Nothing. You okay?

CONRAD Yeah.

CALVIN
Heavy dream?

CONRAD
No.

CALVIN (still whispering)
Don't forget to call that doctor. Did you call him?

CONRAD
It's a quarter to two.

CALVIN
I want you to call him. (winks)
Go back to sleep.

Calvin closes Conrad's door and moves down the stairs.

INT. CONRAD'S ROOM - CLOSE ON CONRAD

He lies back, eyes open, staring at the ceiling. Then he sits up on side of bed. He just sits there. Lost.

INT. KITCHEN

The refrigerator door opens. Inside it is full, everything in its place.

CLOSE ON CALVIN

SHOT - CALVIN

at the kitchen table finishing a sandwich, a glass of milk. When it's done, he seems no more satisfied. He sits there in his pajama bottoms. The same lost look of Conrad's. Something dear and gentle and vulnerable about him.
SHOT - CALVIN

washing up his dishes, carefully putting them away.

INT. MASTER BEDROOM

Calvin moving back into bed. Carefully. Beth remains asleep. He looks toward her. She hasn’t moved. He touches her shoulder. She doesn’t move.

CLOSE ON CALVIN

Hands behind his head. Eyes closed.

EXT. JARRETT HOUSE - DAY (MORNING)

A pickup truck drives slowly down the street. A man standing on the back tosses the morning papers into driveways as the truck moves on.

INT. CONRAD'S BEDROOM - DAY (MORNING)

VOICES

(from o.s.; barely audible, mumbling)

CLOSE ON CONRAD

He looks around the room. He’s anxious. Lies back down. Pulls the blanket over his head.

CALVIN’S VOICE

(o.s.; calling)

Connie!

HOLD ON Conrad, his head still under the blanket.

CALVIN’S VOICE

(o.s.; calling)

Con?

INT. KITCHEN

Conrad moves in, dressed for school, shabby Levi look, putting on a secure face. He has entered with false, grand energy. Beth, dressed in sweater and tight faded Levis. Calvin dressed for the office.

Good morning! Good sleep?

Morning.

Sleep well?

(holding two eggs)

Scrambled?

(sitting down)

I slept a little scrambled, but --

Conrad, how do you want your eggs?

No, thanks.

Get some sleep?

Yeah.

I want you to have eggs. Protein.

Does the paint still smell?

No, it's fine.

(to Conrad with vigor)

I'm in Chorus too, Dad. Don't want to get too strong.

Conrad, toast?

CONTINUED: (2)

CALVIN
How's the mattress? Hard?

CONRAD
It's fine.

BETH
You want toast?

CONRAD
Yes, please.

Mayonnaise

and now: Butter.

CALVIN'S VOICE
(o.s.)
Weather report... Let's see...
Sixty-two degrees, sunny and brisk... Sounds nice.

INT. DATSUN STATION WAGON - DAY (MORNING)

Four high school boys. STILLMAN driving. LAZENBY next to him. Conrad and VAN BUREN in back, smoking. Stillman drives fast. Conrad is reading. The radio is playing loud. Stillman nervously keeps changing stations. There is great tension in the car, and books and loose-leaf note books and a basketball and old wrappers and a paper bag or two.

STILLMAN
We're late because Dickie's mom had to pack his lunch.

VAN BUREN
Two minutes! Christ, you were late when you got to my house! Hey, listen, I damn near killed myself over this poly-sci exam.

STILLMAN
Yeah, the guy wants a goddamn personal analysis of it all. I was up until two o'clock, trying to make sense out of the crap.

LAZENBY
It helps if you read the 'crap' when it's assigned.

VAN BUREN
Tell us about it.

STILLMAN
Get a sense of reality, will you, Lazenby? We swim our asses off every friggin' day. When are we supposed to study?

VAN BUREN
What're you reading, Jarrett? Is that Hardy? Junior English?

CONRAD Yeah.

STILLMAN
You got all junior classes this year? They didn't pass you on anything?

VAN BUREN
They don't pass you on breathing in that dump if you haven't taken the final.

Stillman continues to switch radio stations.

LAZENBY
Stillman, will you quit screwing around with the dial, get something and leave it.

Stillman ignores this, turns up the volume and continues changing stations. Conrad can feel the pressure beginning to build up in him. Stillman suddenly leans forward, leaning out the window.

STILLMAN
Hey, there's Pratt... Lemme out. I need a jump...

THEIR P.O.V.
A "pretty" redhead, JEANNINE PRATT, in a blue skirt and tan jacket is hurrying along the street, her books in her arms.

BACK TO SCENE
as they all stare out.

Look at that hair.

STILLMAN
Look at that ass!
   (he looks at Conrad)
Huh, Jarrett? Hey, look.
Jarrett's interested in something.

FAVOR Conrad, a cold look toward Stillman.

STILLMAN
(continuing) Good boy, welcome back to the world.

Ladies and gentlemen, INTRODUCING the one, the only, the remarkable, the very much alive... THE BROTHER OF THE LATE, GREAT, DEAD BUCK
JARRETT... CONRAD JARRETT.

Big band MUSIC swells. Drum rolls and bugles and cymbals. A curtain opens and there is a bathroom. Conrad rushes in in his underwear. He carries a razor blade and makes his entrance spinning and turning and pirouetting as the audience screams and whistles and stamps their feet along with their applause.

He moves on to the set and proceeds to demonstrate how to cut his wrists as the audience screams and urges him on.

VOICES
Cut it, cut it, cut it, cut it.
Blood, blood, blood, blood.

Doctor Berger?

VOICE (BERGER)
Yes?

CONRAD
This is Conrad Jarrett, Doctor Crawford at Hillsboro Hospital gave me your number.

VOICE (BERGER)
I'm with a patient now. Can you call me back at 2:15?

CONRAD
I don't think I'll be free.

VOICE (BERGER)
Then give me your number. I'll call you tonight... Hello?

CONRAD
That's all right, I'll try and call you back again, sorry, thanks.

He hangs up. Stands there.

INT. JARRETT HOUSE - DINING ROOM
It's dinner time.
CLOSE ON TABLE
It is neatly set. Conservative portions of food.

CALVIN Perfect.

BETH
It was too dry last time.

CONTINUED:

CALVIN
Car stall today?

BETH
They have a new mechanic at C&S. He replaced little Harry.

CONRAD
What happened to little Harry?

BETH
I don't know. I think he found a job in Skokie. But this new man is so strange.

CALVIN
How's that girl at the hospital, Con? The one you painted with.

BETH (stands up)
Strawberry shortcake?

CALVIN
What was her name?

CONRAD
She left before I did.

CALVIN
Didn't she live in Skokie?

CONRAD

BETH (heads for kitchen)
My mother brought some strawberries over. I told her we'd come for dinner Sunday. You still like strawberries, Conrad?

CONRAD
Yes, thank you.

CALVIN
Of course he likes strawberries. (winks, big grin) Didn't lose the old taste buds, did you?

CONRAD
Not for strawberries.
INT. KITCHEN

BETH (calling out)
Also, Calvin, we have to go to the Murrays on Saturday night.
I couldn't get out of it.

EXT. JARRETT HOUSE - NIGHT

BETH'S VOICE
(o.s.)
Saturday's Clark's birthday.
I bought him the Carrington book.

HOLD ON the house. Silence. A blue TV light in one window.

INT. BETH'S BATHROOM - NIGHT

She's in her nightgown and robe. Her hair tied back. She is splashing water on her face, gently, leaning over her marble sink. Then she dries her face and the ritual takes her to the jar of cream, her fingers are in it to take just a small amount, carefully, as if her hands are on a television commercial.

She spreads the cream on her face and, delicately, rubs it in.

SHOT - CALVIN

In the den. A drink in his hand. Watching television. He reaches to his gut. Grabs it. Squeezes the excess. His eyes remaining on the television. He lets go of the gut. His eyes begin to droop. Yawns.

EXT. THE HOUSE - NIGHT

The moon glows on it. Suddenly we HEAR a low, but frightening,

GUT TO:
EXT. TRAIN STATION

The "3:01" pulling out.

INT. TRAIN - CALVIN AND HIS FRIENDS

Playing cards. One is dealing, the Schlitz sign over their knees. SILENCE. The cards are dealt. SILENCE, the men all still half asleep. Somebody is mumbling:

1ST MAN
(half asleep)
What's great is Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops playing God Save The Queen fifteen different ways. Does it straight you know, very moving, very English, then suddenly he does it French Can-Can style, then it's Mexicana, then it's cowboy style. Genius this man. Perfectly genius. He does it like, New York, y'know 'East Side, West Side,' does it sinister, sentimental, you can't believe it, God Save The Queen fifteen different styles, and don't get me wrong, I like Beethoven...

2ND MAN
(mumbling as he checks his cards)
I like Beethoven.

1ST MAN
Fiedler follows Beethoven with Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy of Company B. I listen to that, I go wild. If there's one man in music today I'd like to meet, it's Fiedler.

2ND MAN
Phyllis knows his cousin, I think.

3RD MAN
(sneezes)
Shit, I've got Peggy's cold.

They continue to play.

EXT. TENNIS COURT - SHOT - BETH playing tennis. She is powerful, and she plays well.

SHOT - HER OPPONENT

A difficult return.
LONG SHOT - THE GAME
continuing.

SHOT - BETH'S RETURN clenching her teeth as she smashes the ball back across the net.

VOICE FROM NET
Hoooo! Whaaa!

Beth's face registers such anger.

OPPONENT

Beautiful!

Beth's face relaxes. Softens to her genial, attractive smile. She moves to a towel. She is "perfect." Picks up towel, but doesn't use it.

INT. HIGH SCHOOL CLASSROOM - FAVOR CONRAD as his eyes wander. He looks at the other students, then at the front of the room. A TEACHER is putting a trigonometry problem on the board. Conrad looks to his left.

HIS P.O.V.

Jeannine Pratt is smiling at him.

BACK TO CONRAD

He looks away.

INT. LIBRARY - CONRAD

at table. He is looking through a large book.

SHOT - A PICTURE OF A WORLD WAR TWO BATTLEGROUND

The page turns and we see DETROIT STRIKERS RIOTING and the page turns and we see dead bodies at GETTYSBERG. The page turns and we see a LONE BIRD, flying across the prairie.

The page turns as we see a GREAT WHITE WORK HORSE pulling a loaded wagon through the snow in a dreary, tough Chicago winter. MOVE IN TIGHT on the image of the furiously working horse.

TIGHT ON CONRAD

He looks up.

INT. BERGER'S OFFICE - CLOSE ON BERGER

A heavyset man, BERGER, is seated in a swivel chair. Wears a polo shirt. He is in half light. At first we don't know (CONTINUED) where we are, who he is with. Berger drinks coffee. Some spills on his shirt. Finally we PULL BACK to INCLUDE Conrad sitting stiffly in a chair.

BERGER
I know about your brother, but do you have any other brothers and sisters?

CONRAD
No.

BERGER
What was your brother's name?

CONRAD
Buck. Jason, but they called him Buck.

BERGER
How long were you in the hospital?

CONRAD
Eight months.

BERGER
What about your friends, everything okay with them.

CONRAD
What do you mean?

BERGER
You on stage?

CONRAD
I don't know what you mean.

BERGER
Oh y'know, people think you're dangerous. You tried to commit suicide so now they figure this ding-a-ling's going to blow up the school. Right?

CONRAD Yeah.

(laughs)

Yeah, I guess they figure I'll do something nutty!

BERGER
So, what do you want to work on?

CONRAD
What d'you mean?

BERGER
What do you want to change?

CONRAD
(thinks, shrugs)
I'd like to be more in control, I guess.

BERGER
Why?

CONRAD
So people won't worry about me.

BERGER
Who worries about you?

CONRAD
My father, mostly. He sort of pushed me to come here.

BERGER
Don't you want to come here?

CONRAD
I don't know. Doctor Crawford gave me your number, so... here I am.

BERGER
How about your mother? Isn't she worried?

CONRAD
No.

BERGER
Good for her. I don't believe in worrying.

CONRAD
She's not a worrier.

BERGER
What about you? You a worrier?

CONRAD (pause)
No.
(shrugs)
I dunno...

BERGER
Well, I'd better tell you I'm not big on control. Actually I prefer out of control, nothing like a good surprise. But if you're after control, it's your nickel. How's Tuesdays and Fridays?

CONRAD
I've got swim practice every night.

BERGER
How'd you get here today?

CONRAD
I skipped practice.

BERGER
Can you skip Tuesdays and Fridays?

CONRAD
Does it have to be twice a week?

Berger waits, then leans in to Conrad.

BERGER
Control is a very tough nut.

He stares at Conrad. Looks at his wrists. Leans closer to see.

BERGER
(continuing) Mind if I look?

CONRAD
No.

BERGER
(inspecting the scars)
What you use, Platinum Plus?

CONRAD
Gillette Blue Blades.

CUT TO:

INT. DINING ROOM - FULL SHOT - THE TABLE

The table is set. No one is there. We HOLD ON the table with NO SOUND. Beth MOVES INTO FRAME with napkins. She wears a small apron and moves to a breakfront (through glass doors we can see china, some silver pieces). She opens a drawer.
ANGLE INTO DRAWER

We see three napkin rings. Beth's hand reaches in and one by one puts the napkins into the rings. We can see Beth's narrow wedding band and her small diamond engagement ring. The drawer is closed.

WIDER ANGLE

Beth moving to the table, putting the napkins in front of the three set places. Her fingers straighten a knife and a spoon. Then she moves OUT OF FRAME. HOLD a few moments on the table.

INT. KITCHEN

Beth putting the food on the plates. Carefully.

BACK TO DINING ROOM

She moves INTO FRAME again and puts the two plates at two settings then moves off again.

NEW SHOT - DINING ROOM - CONRAD, CALVIN, BETH seated at the dining table.

CALVIN

I saw Mort Swane. His sister died.

BETH

The one from Idaho?

CALVIN

The one with the restaurant.

BETH

Did she die in Idaho?

CALVIN

I guess so. Why?

BETH

He said she was always travelling. I wondered if she died in Idaho.

CALVIN

I don't know. Maybe she died in Idaho. (laughs) Maybe Kansas City.

BETH

(quickly)

Do you want a roll, Conrad?

CONTINUED:

CONRAD
No, thank you... uh, yeah... maybe I will.

CALVIN
Great rolls.

BETH
New bakery on Sharon Plaza.

CALVIN
Next to the theatre?

BETH
No, by Monico's.

CALVIN
Ollie Campbell took me to a new spaghetti house today.

BETH Oh? How's Ollie? How's Ellen?

CALVIN
He's fine. Same old Ollie.

BETH
Did he lose weight on his trip?
How's Ellen?

CALVIN
I don't know. I didn't ask him.
(pause)
Yeah, honey, I guess she died in Idaho.

CONRAD (looks straight at his mother)
I went to see Doctor Berger.

Beth only barely looks up, wipes her hand with her napkin, actually rubbing one hand is if it had a deep stain.

CALVIN
Berger! Really? Well! You didn't say anything. Good, good!

I went.

CONRAD

CALVIN
Good, good. When?

(Continued)
BETH
Where's his office?

CONRAD In Evanston.

CALVIN
When?

CONRAD Today.

CALVIN
How'd you get there?

CONRAD
The bus.

CALVIN
So? How'd it go?

BETH
I didn't know you made an appointment.

CONRAD
If it's too much money, I don't have to go, it's not really necessary --

CALVIN
Don't worry about the money, it's okay.

CONRAD
It's fifty dollars an hour. Twice a week.

CALVIN
(a beat, but)
Fine. Fine. And it is necessary.

BETH (gets up to clear dishes)
What did you talk about?

CONRAD
Not much. Just... bullshit.

Beth goes into kitchen.

CONTINUED: (3)

BETH
(as she goes)
Conrad, please don't use that language.

CALVIN
What about your schedule? Will that be all right?

CONRAD
It'll cut into swim practice.

INT. KITCHEN - CLOSE ON BETH

putting Jello into little pear shaped dishes and carefully, methodically, placing small vanilla cookies in a circular pattern on a pretty cookie plate. She begins to whistle softly.

INT. MASTER BEDROOM - NIGHT

Beth and Calvin in bed. Lights out.

BETH
London would be like something out of Dickens. We've never done that. Christmas in London.

CALVIN
Maybe we shouldn't plan to go away.

BETH
But we talked about it. We decided on it.

CALVIN
I know. But the more I talk about it, the more it seems the timing isn't right.

BETH
Timing takes care of itself, Calvin. It's unpredictable. That's why you fell for me, remember? (reaches out and tickles his ear) You said I was unpredictable.

CALVIN
You know what I mean.

CONTINUED:

BETH
They said it's best to leave in the middle of December and book a flight back after the first week in January.

CALVIN
Honey, we can't go in the middle of December. Connie'd have to miss a week of school and another week in January would be two weeks.

BETH
He could meet us there when school got out. He could fly back by himself. Mother and Dad would take him in.

(pause)
I think it would be good for us all to go.

CALVIN
He's just starting with this doctor.

BETH So?

CALVIN
We should be available.

BETH
I don't think you should coddle him, Calvin. And I don't think you should start blaming us for everything again.

CALVIN
I'm not blaming anybody.

BETH
I know it's a lot to ask, I know we have expenses.

CALVIN
It's not the money.

BETH
But I need it. I need to go and I need you to go with me.

CALVIN
(reaches for her)
In the spring.

CONTINUED: (2)

BETH (pulls away)
We won't go in the spring if we don't go now.

CALVIN
It's for everybody's sake, that's all.

BETH
Calvin, when are you going to learn that everybody's sake isn't your business?

Silence.

INT. SWIMMING POOL - FAVOR COACH AND CONRAD

The COACH sits with his hands beneath his legs. Stopwatch around his neck. Leaning back on a chair. Very precarious.
His hair is long and he wears a tight swimsuit. His eyes are closed as he talks to Conrad who stands in a bathing suit in front of him. Other swimmers are at the other side of the pool. They are diving into the pool and then getting out after short, playful spurts.

COACH
Are you getting sleep?

CONRAD
Yes, sir.

COACH
I understand about coming back,
I wasn't exactly in your shoes,
but I was a polio victim once,
I never told anybody that, but I was.

CONRAD
Yes, sir, I know.

COACH
I don't remember telling you that.

CONRAD
I heard it somewhere, I think maybe Buck told me.

COACH
Yeah. I would have told that to Buck.

(a pause, then:)
You having fun, Conrad?

CONRAD: Fun?

COACH: If this isn't fun anymore, the point's lost.

CONRAD: Yeah. I'm having fun, I guess.

COACH: You guess.

CONRAD: (he shivers, hugs himself)

Uh-huh.

COACH: I understand you took Chorus.

Uh-huh.

COACH: Maybe there's a conflict there. Were you in the Chorus before?

CONRAD: No.

COACH: Are you on medication?

CONRAD: No.

COACH: No tranquilizers?

CONRAD: (teeth chattering)

Uh-uh.

COACH: Did I ask you if they gave you shock out there?

CONRAD: Yeah, they did, you asked me.

COACH: You seem terse? Is terse the word?

I don't know.

COACH
(shouts across the pool)
Stillman?

STILLMAN
(calling back) Yo!

COACH
What's terse mean?

STILLMAN
I don't know. What?

COACH
Look it up and tell me tomorrow.
(to Conrad)
Jarrett, I'm no doctor, but I would never've let them shoot electricity in my head.

INT. CONRAD'S ROOM - SHADOWS - CLOSE SHOT - A DRAWER

opening. A hand reaches in and takes out a picture from the desk drawer with piles of scraps of notes and letters, old stuff, summer photos, winter photos, a photograph of a small sailboat.

SHOT - CONRAD

looking at photograph. He HEARS someone outside the room. He moves to the door, opens it. Beth is there. She has just come upstairs, she's startled, drawing in her breath sharply when Conrad opens his door.

CONRAD
I'm sorry.

BETH (sharp) Don't do that!

CONRAD
I'm sorry.

BETH
I didn't think you were home yet. Don't jump out at people like that.

(CONTINUED)
CONRAD
I'm sorry. I just got in. How was your golf game?

BETH
Fine. Cold. My neck hurts. I'm going to lie down awhile.

CONRAD
Can I get you something?

BETH
No thank you.

She is nearly at her door. Conrad calls out:

CONRAD
I swam pretty well today. Personally, I think I could swim in the fifty if my timing gets better.

BETH Good.

CONRAD
I'm sorry I scared you.

BETH
It's all right. I just didn't know you were in the house. (pause, then perfunctorily) How's school? Do you have homework?

CONRAD
I think I passed a trig quiz.

BETH
That's good, isn't it?

Uh-huh.

CONRAD
I was awful at trig. (thinks) Did I take trig.

She hesitates, smiles, shrugs and closes her door behind her. Conrad stands a moment in the hall. Hurt. He turns back into his room. Closes the door.
INT. CONRAD'S ROOM

Conrad sits on the side of the bed. He doubles over, arms crossed, pressed against his waist.

CONRAD'S VOICE (MEMORY)
(calling) Buck! Buckyyyy!

BUCK'S VOICE
Hang on, Brother, hang on!

EXT. WHARF - SHOT - CONRAD - NIGHT

appearing in the mist and rain, wrapped in a Coast Guard blanket. He moves TOWARD CAMERA. Now a Coast Guard OFFICER appears at his side, both of them moving TOWARD CAMERA and now Beth is in FRAME. PAN TO show Beth's face as she looks at the blanketed figure. Whatever hope was in her look when she sees it's Conrad seems to fail.

BACK TO CONRAD'S ROOM

Conrad falls back on the bed. He stares at the ceiling. Closes his eyes, not allowing himself to cry. He opens his eyes. He is filled with rage.

INT. MASTER BEDROOM - BETH

She is standing by the dresser. White knit pantsuit, long sleeve black blouse, hair tied back from her face with a black silk scarf.

INT. PORSCHE - BETH AND CALVIN

Calvin in color coordinated pants and sport coat.

CALVIN
You smell good. Something new?

BETH Mmm hmm.

CALVIN (sniffs)
Mmmmmm... nice. What is it?

BETH
Don't tell anybody.

CALVIN
Have I ever told?

BETH Del Cammin.

CONTINUED:

Calvin puts his hand on her knee.

CALVIN
(French accent)
Del Cammin. I like eet.

BETH (smiles)
Better watch the road, Valentino.

HIGH SHOT

as they drive, approaching a more affluent area.

ANGLE AT PORSCHE WINDOW - BETH

She turns, looks out and back.

HER P.O.V.

A wonderful old Victorian house on a corner. A "For Sale" sign on the lawn.

INT. PORSCHE

BETH

The old St. Claire house is up for sale.

She looks at it for another moment, WANTING IT, then turns forward.

CALVIN

Who's going to be there tonight?

BETH (sing song)
Ohhhh, the Murrays and the Kanes and the Gunthers and good old us.

CALVIN

I'm sick of the Murrays.

BETH

They like you.

CALVIN

Let's go to the movies instead.

BETH

Don't be negative.

CONTINUED:

CALVIN
Hey, that's not a bad idea.
Let's be unpredictable and go to the movies. Just like in 1956.
I mean, if we didn't show up to a party in 1956, who cared?

BETH
How do you know you won't have fun?

CALVIN
I can read my mind. It says, break the rules and don't show up and take the girl you love to the movies.

BETH Come on, Calvin, everybody has to eat.

HIGH ANGLE - THE PORSCHE

moving into a driveway. Other cars already parked there.

BETH'S VOICE
(o.s.)
Now smile and not too many martinis.
Madaline got her Jaguar.

INT. MURRAY'S HOUSE - AT FRONT DOOR

SARAH MURRAY at the door, big smile, long hostess skirt, ruffled blouse.

SARAH (sweeping them in) How's that! Three blocks away. and last to arrive.

We can see other guests in the living room through an archway.

BETH
Mmm, what smells good.

A big man, ED GUNTHER, has shot into the entranceway and already has his arm around Beth. He moves her into living room.

BETH
(continuing; lightly)
Edward, control yourself, and buy me a drink.

CONTINUED:

ED
(into her ear)
I'll buy you the moon, if you don't tell Louise.

INT. LIVING ROOM

The eight people and a shy Spanish maid with a tray of puffs.
PHIL MURRAY is at the wet bar. MACK KANE is at Calvin's side.
Calvin with a martini.

MACK
You entering the Lawyers' Invitational?

CALVIN
I didn't qualify. You?

MACK
You ever won that thing?

CALVIN
Are you kidding, you know how many lawyers play golf? You entering?

MACK
I can't get loose, Jack Cupperman's been sent to Des Moines.

PHIL
I thought Denison went to Des Moines.

MACK
Nah, he's out, he got in trouble with that limousine.

INT. DINING ROOM

Dinner is about over.

VOICES
Tough act to follow, Sarah...
The cheese sauce is great.
Marty, honey, get that recipe...
I cannot tell a lie, it's Beth's recipe... What are you reading these days, Beth... What isn't she reading...

NEW SHOT - FAVORING TWO LITTLE CHILDREN in their robes at the table saying good night with polite handshakes.

CONTINUED:

VOICES
Good night, good night, good night, you're growing up. How tall are you now?

LITTLE BOY
(dumb smile)
I dunno.

VOICES
Sleep well... Good night.

One Voice says "good night" as Donald Duck. Then everyone tries to do "Donald Duck."

VOICE
How does he do that damn duck?

VOICE
You puff out on your cheek.

(he does it)
Quack, quack.

INT. LIVING ROOM - ANGLE ON CALVIN, PHIL, ED, MACK

PHIL
(a drome)
If I get that four thousand at a hundred and thirteen and three-quarters I know something's wrong and I'll give a testing order. I'll see a thousand shares to see how the market takes it but considering the order to buy the four thousand shares that I put in when the price was one hundred and thirteen and three-quarters I get two thousand at a hundred and fourteen and five hundred at a hundred and fourteen and a half and the rest on the way up so for the last five hundred I pay a hundred and fifteen and a half then I know I'm right. It's the way I get the four thousand shares that tells me whether I'm right in buying at that particular time.

MED.SHOT - CALVIN

has already turned to look at Ann Kane, who is alone at the fireplace. Calvin's eyes are fuzzy. He moves to Ann.

CONTINUED:

CALVIN
What's your boy up to these days?

ANN
Who knows. They won't tell. Donald says Conrad isn't as friendly with him as he used to be.

CALVIN
Oh, no, no, no. He's great. He's just getting back into the work.

ANN
Donald says he doesn't come to swimming practice sometimes. I told him maybe he's a little self-conscious.

CALVIN
No, no, no, no. There's a doctor in Evanston he sees couple times a week, so, y'know, it breaks into things.

ANN
Does he still have some problems?

CALVIN
No, no, no, nothing like that. Just someone to talk to, that's all. Finish off the rough edges.

There's a lot of loud laughter from across the room and Beth moves to Calvin.

BETH
It's joke time, darling. (pushing Cal's hair back)
You want to tell your joke?

Calvin raises his arm. He's sweet and light-headed. Calls out:

CALVIN
I want to tell my joke.

INT. PORSCHE - NIGHT
Beth is driving.

CONTINUED:

CALVIN
The thing about Phil Murray, the thing is, he's a damn bore, one more crooked lawyer story and I'm going up the wall.

Beth is silent. Calvin senses something wrong.

CALVIN
(continuing; looks at her)
Huh? (smiles)
Honey?

BETH (nicely)
You drink too much at parties, Calvin.

CALVIN
(big grin)
I'm not drunk, honey.

BETH
She pumped you.

Who?

BETH
Annie Kane. Why did you tell her Conrad was seeing a psychiatrist?

CALVIN
Hell, some people consider that a status symbol, right up there with going to Europe, that wasn't wrong.

BETH
I thought your blurting it out like that was in very bad taste.

CALVIN
I didn't think it was bad taste.

BETH
Not to mention a violation of privacy.

Silence. They continue to drive on. Finally:

CALVIN
Whose privacy, Babe?
CONTINUED: (2)

BETH
Our privacy. The family's privacy. It's a private matter, Calvin.

He nods. No one speaks. Then, finally:

CALVIN
You're right. You're absolutely right. I'm sorry.

BETH (softly)
Please don't tell people.

CALVIN
Okay... You're right. It is a private... thing... matter. I apologize.

He smiles at her, puts his arm around her.

BETH
Honey, don't do that, you make it hard for me to drive.

INT. JARRETT HOUSE - NIGHT

Calvin and Beth have turned out the lights. She is already moving up the stairs. Calvin follows, his coat slung over his shoulder.

SHOT - TOP OF STAIRS

Beth continues toward the bedroom. Calvin stops at Conrad's door. He opens it. Looks in.

INT. MASTER BEDROOM - ANGLE ON BETH

in the bed, sitting up, her hair loose now. She sits, waits for something.

INT. BATHROOM

Calvin in his pajama bottoms, brushes his teeth.

INT. MASTER BEDROOM - FAVOR BETH

waiting. Calvin moves into room, turning off bathroom light. He moves onto the bed. Beth reaches up and turns out the bed-lamp, then reaches up to him, puts her arms around him and she puts on a smile for this ritual. In the darkness they make love. It is by rote and boring. Finally, it's over. And in a moment she slides away from him. Calvin buries his face against the back of her soft hair.

CONTINUED:

CALVIN
Mmmm. What's it called again?
Del what?

BETH Hmm?

CALVIN
Your new cologne.

BETH Del Cammin.

CALVIN
What's it mean?

BETH (sleepy)
I d'know.

CALVIN
Smells so good. I want to hold you a while.

At first there's no answer. But then:

BETH (softly)
Aren't you tired?

Mmmm.

Finally he pulls his head away. Turns onto his back.

CLOSE ON CALVIN

staring up at the ceiling. We begin to HEAR VOICES from the past. Two young boys, a vigorous hassle:

CONRAD'S VOICE
That's my sweater.

BUCKY'S VOICE
The hell it is, possession is nine-tenths. Hey, Dad, what's possession?

CONRAD'S VOICE
Possession's gonna get your thick head broke, now give it to me.

BUCKY'S VOICE
I can't. It's already on me.

CONTINUED:

CONRAD'S VOICE
Take it off, Bucky. Dad? Dad, tell him to take it off.

BUCKY'S VOICE
Okay, buddy, then hand over my socks, my jock strap, and my ski boots, remember the ski boots.

There's laughter that fades out with the words. And Calvin lies silently, sadly. Lonely. He looks toward Beth.

TIGHT SHOT - BETH asleep.

CALVIN G'night.

CAMERA PULLS BACK, out of the room.

INT. CORRIDOR - ANGLE ON CONRAD'S DOOR
A light shines through bottom.

INT. CONRAD'S BATHROOM - VERY TIGHT SHOT - CONRAD - NIGHT
naked, sitting on the side of the bathtub with his legs crossed in front of the mirror. He holds a pencil and sketch pad, doing a thin line self-portrait. We can see what he sketches: His strangely contorted posture. His left eye shut. Furrowed brow and a searching suffering look in his open eye.

LONG SHOT - THROUGH BATHROOM DOOR - AT CONRAD

INT. MASTER BEDROOM - SHOT - CALVIN - NIGHT asleep now.

SHOT - BETH

CLOSER SHOT - BETH'S FACE
One muscle twitches, slightly.

SHOT - CALVIN
turns. Troubled. Opens his eyes, quickly, looks at something, closes his eyes. One leg is extended out of the blanket.
INT. CONRAD'S ROOM - ANGLE ON CONRAD'S NUDE SELF-PORTRAIT on the floor. PULL UP to SHOW Conrad in his bed. Twisted into his own sleep. His sheet and cover askew. Half off him.

EXT. THE HOUSE - NIGHT

in the moonlight.

INT. BERGER'S OFFICE - TWO SHOT - BERGER AND CONRAD

CONRAD

Maybe I need some kind of tranquilizer. I feel nervous all the time. I can't sleep.

BERGER

Maybe your schedule's too heavy.
Maybe you're trying to do too much. Maybe you oughta drop a course or two.

No.

BERGER

Why not?

CONRAD

Because I'm behind already.

BERGER

Behind what? The Great Schedule in the Sky?

CONRAD

Your ceiling's dirty.

BERGER

What do you think's making you nervous?

There's a long pause. Then:

CONRAD

I dunno. Maybe I don't want to swim any more. My timing's for shit. He's got two guys better than me swimming the fifty.
Anyway, I don't give a damn about those guys, they're a bunch of boring jocks. And I can't stand him, he's a tight-assed son of a bitch.

CONTINUED:

BERGER
Have you thought about quitting?

CONRAD
Are you telling me to?

BERGER
No.

CONRAD
It wouldn't look good.

BERGER
Forget how it looks, how does it feel?

CONRAD
That's what happened last year. It's the same damn thing I did last year.

BERGER
Are you the same person you were last year?

CONRAD
I don't know. What do you think? Do you think I'd try to do it again?

BERGER
Do you think you would?

CONRAD
I don't know.

BERGER
That's why you need the tranquilizer?

CONRAD
What do you think?

BERGER
I'll leave it up to you.

CONRAD
Fifty bucks an hour. Can't you decide if I should have a pill or not. You're a doctor. I'm supposed to feel better, aren't I?

BERGER
No!

(Continued)
CONTINUED: (2)

Silence. Conrad closes his eyes. Then, finally:

BERGER
(continuing)
Why don't you call that girl from Skokie. Karen?

CONRAD Why?

BERGER
You say you're lonely. You said you liked her. Maybe there're things to talk about. Be nice to talk to an old friend.

EXT. BUS - TO SKOKIE - DAY

Leaving Lake Forest.

INT. BUS

Conrad looking out the window. He suddenly looks uncomfortable.
He closes his eyes.

CONRAD'S VOICE
(up tempo)
I was up once during the middle of the night and I cleaned things out of my drawers, things my mother wouldn't like to've found.
Like a picture or something that'd upset her, or a note from somebody.

SLOW OVERLAP
DISSOLVE (MEMORY)

INT. HOSPITAL - VERY TIGHT SHOT - CONRAD/KAREN (MEMORY)

She's his age. Small kittenish face, but very loose, very wise and listening carefully. Smiling.

CONRAD
(to Karen)
I came across these old sweaters with stains on them, and coats and pants with stains and I was trying to get the stains out I wanted her to find clean clothes with no stains. I remember one stain, I couldn't help it. I was in the hearse or the limousine behind the hearse, and I felt sick and I started to throw up and nobody saw, but I did throw up a though, I can still smell it. Now when my body throws up I... can't think of the...

(laughs)
I can't find the word.

KAREN Funeral?

CONRAD Yeah... Funeral.

DRIVER'S VOICE
(o.s.)

Skokie!

INT. BUS - CONRAD

He opens his eyes. Looks through window.

DRIVER

Skokie, next!

EXT. BUS STOP - SKOKIE

Conrad gets off bus.

INT. SODA FOUNTAIN - CONRAD AND KAREN

in a small booth. She is bright and warm.

KAREN
I do much better work now. I feel I have more influence over myself.

CONRAD

That's great!

KAREN
I have a way of speaking that makes more sense to me, I can hear myself and I catch the good things, my mother and father aren't angry and I keep 'fit and it's hard to believe, but I'm really better. I've stopped fighting them. I've got a place now, at home now, and I never knew I had it.
CONTINUED:

CONRAD
You used to say you didn't like that place.

KAREN
But everything changes, Conrad. All wild ideas aren't necessarily the best ideas, and they don't necessarily last. I think my wild ideas in the hospital were insane, and not necessarily lasting.

CONRAD
In the hospital, that's where we had all our laughs. Insanity, y'know. Remember?

KAREN
But we aren't there now.

Yeah...

KAREN
But we can still have laughs. And you have a wonderful sense of humor. You've made me laugh more than anybody.

CONRAD
You seem real good.

KAREN
I am. You do, too.
(looks at her watch)
I have to get back to school. We have a rehearsal, our drama class is doing "A Thousand Clowns."

CONRAD
Are you seeing a doctor?

KAREN
No! I was, but my father and mother and I, particularly my dad made me feel... Well, we're a family and that's something to be proud of and that's where we do it, it's the family. Don't you agree?

CONRAD
Like the Waltons, huh?

KAREN
Your hair grew in. You look good.

CONRAD
You still painting?

KAREN
I quit that. They were so weird those paintings.

CONRAD
I thought they were spectacular.

KAREN
What about you?

CONRAD
I sketch a little. I use more colors now.

KAREN
What I meant was your family. How's your family?

CONRAD
Good. Real good.

KAREN
And your mother... Are you two getting along?

CONRAD
Oh, yeah. We're great now. It's just... close and like a real family.

KAREN
Oh, that's so good, Conrad.

CONRAD Yeah.

KAREN
When you called, you said you wanted to talk. You sounded like there was something specific.

CONRAD
Well, I was... having some bum days, y'know?... Light, scattered paranoia, increasing to moderate during the day... Thought I might talk to you and... well you were always helpful, but I'm okay now.

CONTINUED: (3)

KAREN (with humor)
I think that what you have to do is... believe in yourself. Know who you are. Know where we come from. Be a part of something. Cultivate a sense of humor. Try not to worry. All that stuff. Don't brood over the past. Make the best of each situation. Find an interesting hobby.

CONRAD
Help old ladies across the street.

KAREN Right.

CONRAD Yeah.

KAREN
I'm in the church choir now.

CONRAD
Me too, at school. It's great, isn't it?

KAREN
Yeah. It's great.

CONRAD
You're really great.

KAREN
I work hard at it. They're right y'know? They know something we don't know, our parents.

CONRAD What?

KAREN
Obstacles. After all, they've been there. How to meet them and how to be popular.

Silence. She chews the ice from her glass.

CONRAD
You still like ice, though.

KAREN
Oh God, I'm sorry, it's a terrible habit.

CONRAD
It's okay, chew chew...

KAREN
Hey, I've really gotta go. I've got a meeting at school. Our drama club is doing "A Thousand Clowns."

CONRAD
I know. You told me.

KAREN
Oh. Did I?... Well, I'd better hurry.

CONRAD
Thanks for seeing me, Karen.

KAREN
Conrad... let's have the most wonderful Christmas of our lives. We can you know. We can have a wonderful year. It can be the best year ever.

CONRAD
Yeah. Okay.

He puts a white napkin to his chin.

CONRAD
(continuing)
I'll be a regular Santa Claus.

EXT. THE CAFE

His hand shoots up.

TIGHT ON CONRAD

smiling... as they continue singing. PAN to SHOW Jeannine Pratt

He is exhausted and he climbs out. The Chorus continues.

SHOT - THE COACH

He looks at Conrad who is sitting near him. Some other swimmers in the pool.

TIGHT ON CONRAD

as he sits and looks at pool. We begin to HEAR the SOUND of the storm at sea. Then:

SHOT - THE POOL (MEMORY)

It is surrounded with spectators including Calvin and Beth as they root for "Bucky." A race is on and the Voices call:
"C'mon Buck, c'mon Buck."

TIGHT SHOT - BUCK

hurrahs from the sidelines.

BACK TO CONRAD (REALITY) sitting by the pool, looking at the Coach from the corner of his eye.

INT. BERGER'S OFFICE - CONRAD AND BERGER

A few moments of silence and then:

CONTINUED:

CONRAD
Why can't I say what I want to say, why do I have such trouble saying words.

BERGER
What did you want to tell him?

Conrad
That I was...

BERGER
What?

Conrad
I don't know.

Silence.

BERGER
What're you feeling?

Conrad
(a parrot)
What are you feeling? What are you feeling? Jesus!

Silence.

BERGER
Who're you angry at?

Conrad
That coach. I hate him.

BERGER
Who else. (a beat)
You're mother?

No.

Conrad

BERGER
You're sure?

Silence.

BERGER
(continuing)
Talk to your mother.

(Continued)
CONRAD

No.

BERGER

Just say: 'Mother, put your arms around me, Mother.'

Silence.

BERGER

(continuing; as Beth)

'But I love Bucky, you're not lovable. You're just a pissy-assed little brother who can't put words together.'

CONRAD

That's right!

BERGER

No, it's not. Tell yourself that isn't true. You're entitled to as much as anyone. Say it. Say, 'I'm entitled to as much as anyone else in the world, as much as Buck!'

CONRAD

It's all such shit!

BERGER

What's shit?

CONRAD

(stands up)

Time's up. Right?

He raises his hands over his head again, breathes deeply.

EXT. JARRETT HOUSE

Conrad standing in front of it, holding his school books. He stares at the house.

INT. LIVING ROOM - BOOK SHELVES - CLOSE ON BETH

ANGLE ON FRONT DOOR

Conrad opens the door, closes it. He moves to where he can watch Beth. She doesn't see him. He stares at her.

Hi.

Beth turns quickly, frightened again.

BETH
Oh, it's you. You scared me again.

CONRAD
Sorry, I thought you heard the door. Books dusty?

BETH
I'm putting them in alphabetical order.

CONRAD
I thought they already were.

BETH
They were once, but people just don't put them back in the right way.

He watches her. Waits. Finally:

CONRAD
Can I help you.

BETH
No, I'm fine. I'm almost finished. I'll tell you what you can do, you can clean out your closet.

He moves to the book shelves where Beth stands on a small ladder.

CONRAD
I know the alphabet.

BETH (lightly)
I know you know the alphabet, but --

CONRAD
C'mon, lemme help.

BETH
Conrad, you can help me by cleaning your room, your closet is impossible, I can't imagine what's in there, maybe a small pony.
CONRAD
(reaches for her)
Let me get up there...
(takes her arm)
You hand me the books.

The PHONE RINGS.

BETH (getting down)
Oh, God, I know it's Hazel Forbes.

Conrad has his hands on her shoulders.

BETH
(continuing)
Conrad, I have to get to the phone.

CONRAD (playfully)
Aw, give the kid a hug, what the heck.

And he has her in his arms.

BETH Conrad!

CONRAD Mom?

BETH Now stop it.

CONRAD (desperate) Mom?

BETH
Conrad, the phone is ringing.

She pulls free, moves to the phone.

BETH
(continuing; into phone)
Hello?... Oh, hello, I got in a jam with some work, how did it go... No, nothing at all, I was just arranging some books.

CONRAD watches her, then she continues to talk and starts to laugh and Conrad moves slowly away, listening to Beth on the phone. Her warm, lively laughter. She looks toward Conrad for a brief moment.

FAVOR CONRAD

as he moves away. He looks out through the sliding glass window toward the yard. He HEARS his mother's LAUGHTER in b.g. and OVER THAT we HEAR:

BUCK'S VOICE
Mr. Quigley's the fat one of the faculty and he walks with his head back all the time.

Now Beth's LAUGHTER is from MEMORY, blending in with what Conrad remembers.

CONRAD'S P.O.V. — BACK YARD (MEMORY)

Beth, Buck and Conrad (age fifteen). Conrad at the side of the lawn, sitting with his feet crossed, listening to Buck and his mother. His mother is so relaxed, on her side on the lawn, a flower in her hand.

BUCK
... and then Marcia Kimball started to cry and stuck in her purse are Gene Coomer's wet socks...

Beth's LAUGHTER. Conrad, at the side of the lawn, LAUGHS a little, wanting to be more a part of it. Beth is so at ease, so enjoying this boy.

BETH
Oh God! Yes! Gene Coomer. What did you do?

BUCK
I tried to get the socks, but Mr. Quigley doesn't believe Marcia's really crying, right? Quigley never believes anybody if they cry or get sad...

(to Conrad)
You know how he is.

(to Beth)
So he pushes back his shoulders and makes all those noises again with his sinus...

(CONTINUED)
CONTINUED:

Beth (love it)
God, I can hear him now, that fool.

Buck
(walking like Mr. Quigley)
... and he starts to write down the words to "America the Beautiful"...

Beth and Buck (together)
... 'cause that always calms him down.

The laughter is full from Beth as she lies back on the grass.

Beth
Oh, God, Buck, that's funny.

Tight shot - Conrad looking at his majestic brother and hearing his mother's loose laughter.

Back to scene

Conrad looking through glass door, Beth's telephone talk and laughter continuing b.g.

Int. Conrad's room - day

He lies on his bed. Angry.

Int. Gym office - two shot - Conrad and swim coach

Coach
Why do you want to keep messing up your life?

Conrad
My life won't be messed up just because I stop swimming. I'm not doing that well anyway.

Coach
Your father called me, he asked for a favor. You're a good swimmer. It was an easy favor.
I want you back. But when I excuse you from practice to see a shrink twice a week, that's not an easy favor.

(More)

COACH (CONT'D)
We have our first meet five weeks from now. What about that? Do you talk about swimming to your shrink? Do you talk about us? Do you talk about responsibility here? Do you talk about me? What does he say about me? Has he said something about me?

CONRAD

No, sir.

COACH

This his idea?

CONRAD

No.

COACH

Okay. You're a big kid now. Actions have consequences, I'm not taking you back again. Remember that.

CONRAD

I won't ask you to.

COACH

Maybe I make it too tough for you. What are you going to say to your father?

CONRAD

I don't know.

INT. DINING ROOM - DINNER - NIGHT
Beth has a small book in front of her. She is searching for a particular page.

CALVIN

If the ground's under repair there's no penalty.

BETH

(looking through book)
She kicked it, it doesn't matter.

CALVIN

But it landed in grounds under repair.

Here it is!

(reads)
'When a ball is in play, if a player, his partner, their equipment or either of their caddies accidentally move it --

CONRAD
(starting to get up)
Would you excuse me, please?

BETH
Do you want more meat loaf?

CONRAD
No thanks, it was good, though.

BETH
No dessert?

CONRAD
No thanks.

CALVIN
Come on, a little dessert.

CONRAD
(up and starting away)
No thanks, I'll have it later, I've got homework.

BETH
Conrad, is that shirt ripped?

CONRAD
Huh? No.

BETH
The pocket's ripped. Leave it out on the bench in the hall.

CONRAD
It's just a little rip.

BETH
Leave it in the hall, Conrad.

Conrad moving into place in the Chorus assemblage.

BERTH'S VOICE

(o.s.)

... except as provided for in the Rules or Local Rules, the player shall incur a penalty stroke and the ball shall be replaced.'

CUT TO:

SHOT - THE CHORUS

singing. A LOUD BLAST of voices.

FAVORING CONRAD

venting his anger as if to drown out the SOUND of Beth's voice.

INT. BERGER'S OFFICE - BERGER AND CONRAD

Silence. Berger sits and waits, as Conrad moves restlessly.
Finally:

CONRAD

Look, I'm not feeling anything right now... I think I oughta go home.

Silence.

CONRAD

(continuing)

What time is it?

BERGER

Plenty of time.

CONRAD

Well, I'm not going to feel anything, I'm just wasting money today, I could buy a sweater or something.

Silence. Berger picks up a bottle of after shave lotion and dashes some on his palms and rubs it into his face. Conrad doesn't react to it.

CONTINUED:

BERGER
What're you thinking?

Pause. Then:

CONRAD
That I jack-off a lot.

BERGER
So what else is new? Does it help?

CONRAD
For a minute.

BERGER
What do you think about?

CONRAD
What do you mean?

BERGER
When you jerk-off a lot.

CONRAD
I don't jerk-off. I jack-off.

BERGER
(singing)
'You say tomatoes, I say tomahtoes.
You say potatoes, I say potahtoes...' (he slowly eases off)
So what do you think about?

CONRAD
(staring at him)
You're weird.

BERGER
What do you think about?

CONRAD
(hesitates, then)
Lots of things. People.

BERGER
Who?

(CONTINUED)
CONRAD (shrugs)
I dunno. A woman I saw once.
In an airplane. She was asleep.
And her mouth was loose. And I always think about her opening her mouth and her eyes and catching me looking at her and coming over to me, and coming over to me somewhere and just...
letting me do it to her.
(pause)
Just letting me do the whole damn thing to her.

Berger watches him. A long wait. Then:

CONRAD
(continuing)
My father sweats and my mother never does. She doesn't even grow hair under her arms.

BERGER
Some people don't.

CONRAD
My father 'll sweat when I tell him I'm not swimming, I'm supposed to be a big shot swimmer. It's a family tradition.

BERGER
So you haven't told anybody?
Your mother?

CONRAD
(suddenly sharp)
My mother and I don't connect!
Don't you listen? I mean, Jesus,
I wonder if you do listen to me!
What do people have in common with mothers anyway? Surface junk.
Brush your teeth, clean your room, get good grades, hello Mother, hello Conrad, eat your toast, we're going to Grandma's, there's a new bakery, Bill Stutz lost weight.
Jesus!

He breaks off. His face tightens up as before. Silence.
Then, suddenly:

(CONTINUED)
CONRAD
(continuing)
Okay! That's the way it is. People have a right to be the way they are, I guess.

Berger begins to applaud.

CONRAD
(continuing)
Come on, don't start being silly. You're very weird today.

BERGER
People have a right to be the way they are, that entitles you to some applause.

CONRAD
You piss me off when you're obscure.

BERGER
You have to recognize people's limitations, try that.

CONRAD
Fifty dollars an hour isn't worth obscure.

BERGER
Some people only have so much to give. Try that.

CONRAD
Like maybe she can't give me anything.

BERGER
Maybe not enough.

CONRAD
Which isn't very much.

BERGER
Maybe it's as much as she's able to give you.

CONRAD
But why do I get the short end?

BERGER
Maybe she's afraid. Maybe it's hard for some people to give love.

(CONTINUED)
CONRAD
Bullshit! She loves my father. She loved my brother. She loves her mother, she loves my grandfather who can't even talk, and her boring brother, Ward, in Houston. It's me! Only me!

BERGER
Look, I don't know who your mother loves, Conrad, but whatever she does or feels or is... be aware. People don't change on command from other people.

CONRAD
I'm not trying to change anybody.

BERGER
What were you doing a year ago when you gave her the ultimate command?

CONRAD
That's not why I did it.

BERGER
Why then?... You tell me why. Try to remember what you felt.

Silence.

CONRAD
Sometimes when you let yourself feel, all you feel is lousy.

BERGER
(singing)
'I beg your pardon, I never promised you a rose garden.'

CONRAD
Fuck you, Berger.
(louder)
Fuck you!

BERGER
Yeah!

CONRAD (growing angrier) FUCK YOU!

That's it!

CONRAD
FUCK YOU! Jesus, you are a kick. You are really a kick. What about you, you ever jerk-off or jack-off or whatever you do?

BERGER
What do you think?

CONRAD
(with anger)
I think you're married to a fat lady and you go home and you fuck the living daylights out of her all the time.

BERGER
(pauses. Then nods)
Sounds good to me.

INT. CONRAD'S ROOM - DAY

Conrad sitting in a chair by his window, feet up on the window-sill, a sketch pad in his lap. He's dressed in levis, an old shirt, no shoes. He looks down at the yard. He's angry.

EXT. HOUSE - YARD

Beth working on a broken hose. Calvin moves by with basket of dry leaves.

BETH
Have you seen my pliers?

CALVIN
Aren't they in the tool drawer?

BETH
I'll bet Conrad used them.

CALVIN
Have you seen him today?

BETH
I heard him stomping around up there.

She cuts her finger. Brings it quickly to her mouth.

BETH
(continuing) Damn it!

CONTINUED:

CALVIN
(reaching for her finger)
Lemme see.

BETH (pulling away)
The pliers are in a special drawer and they're not there. I can't keep tools. I can't keep pencils... Everything disappears...
(moving off)
Now, let's pray for Bandaids.

INT. CONRAD'S ROOM

Conrad sitting at the window. Calvin enters.

CALVIN
Hi ya.

CONRAD Hi.

CALVIN
Your mother's pliers wouldn't be hanging around here, would they?

CONRAD Huh?

CALVIN
(a smile)
Your mother's pliers are missing. DA DAAAA!

CONRAD
I didn't use them.

CALVIN
Well, they've gotta be somewhere, don't they?

CONRAD (sketching)
Everybody's got to be somewhere.

CALVIN
Right! (casually)
How you doing?

CONTINUED:

Okay. CONRAD

What're you up to? CALVIN

Nothing, just looking out the window. CONRAD

Sketching? CALVIN

Uh huh. CONRAD

Feel okay? CALVIN

Uh huh. CONRAD

Plans for the day? CALVIN

I don't have any. CONRAD

(looks the room over) CALVIN

Just lazin' around, huh?

Yeah. CONRAD

Feel okay? You seem quiet. CALVIN

I'm fine. CONRAD

(moves in a step) CALVIN

You wanna go somewhere play a little basketball, maybe get a hamburger?

I don't think so. Thanks, though. CONRAD

CALVIN
(checks the room)
Well, the old room's shapping up.
Looks alive again.

(looks out window)
Good view. You've always had a good view from your window.

He looks out the window. Then he rubs Conrad's back briskly and glances at what he's sketching, but Conrad has lowered the sketch pad cover. Calvin starts out.

CALVIN
(continuing) Well, I shall look for the famous missing pliers.

(a little laugh)
Your mother can drive you nuts, y'know, if everything isn't in its place.

A beat, then:

CONRAD
(without turning)
Why don't you tell her?

What?

CALVIN

CONRAD

That she drives you nuts. Tell her.

Silence. Finally:

CALVIN
It's just an expression.

CONRAD
But still, if she drives you nuts.
(turns)
I mean she can drive you nuts, can't she?

Silence. Calvin reacts. Then:

CALVIN
I guess we can all drive each other nuts.

He exits.
SHOT - CONRAD'S SKETCH PAD

A self portrait. But it's a bird. But it's Conrad. And it's diving for the kill.

INT. KITCHEN - NIGHT

Calvin alone at the kitchen table, half a sandwich is left. He sits thoughtfully. A can of beer is there.

EXT. HIGH SHOT - A COMMUTER TRAIN moving toward Chicago.

INT. TRAIN - CALVIN

contemplative.

INT. CALVIN'S OFFICE

A well-furnished, nicely decorated room. Pictures of his family. One of Conrad and Buck, another of Beth, waving happily on a beach, looking great in her bikini. Another portrait photo of Beth, elegant. Calvin sits at his desk, his work spread before him. His SECRETARY picking up some contracts he is signing. He's finished. She smiles warmly at him. He watches her exit. She is attractive. He turns and looks at the picture of Beth.

EXT. STREET

Calvin moving through the people. He bumps into a woman who is hurrying by. This is DOLLY. She is hatless, wearing a tweed pantsuit, and her large-boned figure looks farm-like, out of place among the coeds and secretaries around at noon-time. Calvin grins at her, absurdly glad to see her, she looks so real and alive.

CALVIN

Dolly!

DOLLY

Calvin. What a good surprise.

They exchange a friendly embrace.

CALVIN

Had lunch?

DOLLY

Just finished, on my way to class, you going my way, I have to hurry.

CALVIN

(walks with her)

What class?

DOLLY
'Search for Identity,' and don't laugh.

CALVIN
I thought you found yours.

DOLLY
I'm looking forty in the face.
It scares me. I'm not your wife.
How's Conrad?

CALVIN
Fine. How's Joe? We miss seeing him around the house.

DOLLY
I know. They don't spend much time together, do they. Tell Connie I miss him. Tell him to stop over some time when he's ready.

CALVIN
I will. He'll be ready.

DOLLY
And Beth, too. How is she? I only see her at bridge now and then.
We never seem to get a chance to talk.

CALVIN
She's chairing the tennis tournament at Onwentsia next spring. She spends a lot of time over there.

DOLLY
God, but I admire that woman's organization. And yet she never lets herself get trapped into anything she doesn't want to do.
Now there's an art. I'm just beginning to learn the trick myself. I hope it's not too late!

CALVIN
You're right! She doesn't get trapped, does she?

DOLLY
I have to run, I'll be late. Thanks for the lunch invitation... Do I have a rain check.

CONTINUED: (2)

CALVIN

Rain check.

She goes. He watches her. She's attractive. Loose. He appreciates it.

INT. TRAIN - FAVOR CALVIN - EVENING

at the window. The train filled with commuters. He stares out. We can see his reflection. His newspaper open and lowered onto his lap. His glasses on. He looks older, strangely wiser.

EXT. TENNIS COURT (CALVIN'S MEMORY)

A younger Calvin being introduced to Beth at what will be a doubles match.

CALVIN'S VOICE

The courtship was decent.
Certainly very pleasant.

SHOT - CALVIN AND BETH

They play each other in doubles. The final shots. His side wins. They walk off the court together.

CALVIN'S VOICE
(as they play)
She respects my opinions. She never makes a point of telling me I'm wrong. She's a wonderful listener. She makes me feel important and she does it sincerely. I love her...

(long pause)
... She loves me.

EXT. COUNTRY CLUB DINING TERRACE (MEMORY)

Beth and Calvin (younger) having a drink. "HEY THERE" being played in b.g. on a piano.

CALVIN

Ohhh, sure. I guess I'd leave Boston. If something really got to me. But what about you? You've got me doing all the talking.

BETH

I like Easter, I like Christmas, fireworks bore me --

CALVIN

No kidding.

Mmm hmmm, I'm going for my B.A. in English Lit. And I'll also be out of Barnhard in a year, also I think you've got a remarkable backhand. What kind of lawyer do you want to be?

I don't know. Some swell corporation.

You'll make it. I know it. I feel it, and I'm almost never wrong and I seldom make prophesies.

What else do you see?

Ohhh, all sorts of things. How about you?

You're beautiful... What I want to say is... You're so beautiful and elegant and unpredictable... and...

Mysterious?

Right.

You've been in Boston too long.

EXT. MED. LONG SHOT - A GARDEN WEDDING (MEMORY)

As we watch the ceremony, we HEAR:

We had no illusions that marriage began and ended with the cutting of the wedding cake. We knew life wouldn't be easy. And I promised to be faithful, and I have been. I've never been unfaithful.
INT. TRAIN - CLOSE ON CALVIN

CONDUCTOR'S VOICE
Lake Forest, Lake Forest.

Calvin looks up at the commuters getting their briefcases, newspapers together. Calvin looks back out the window.

EXT. BACK YARD (MEMORY)

Beth is moving outside, dressed in a house dress, an apron on. She is moving slowly. She holds a spatula in her hand. She looks at the old swing that blows in the wind and she folds over and begins to cry. Calvin moves out after her. He holds her, but she pulls away and he continues to go for her and finally she just weeps so hard.

    BETH'S VOICE
    (weeping)
    Bucky... my life... oh, God, my Bucky.

BACK TO CALVIN - IN TRAIN

at depot. He sits and watches the others file out.

INT. CAR (1956 OLDSMOBILE SEDAN) - SHOT - A BARELY VISIBLE MAN DRIVER

SHOT - CALVIN IN YELLOW PORSCHE

The Oldsmobile comes up alongside Calvin's car. The Man gives Calvin the finger.

EXT. ROAD - CALVIN'S PORSCHE

Calvin's sudden rage, he chases the first car and pulls in front of it. Calvin gets out of the car. Moves to first car. The Man closes his window, afraid. Calvin moves to the car window, bangs to get in.

    CALVIN
    Friend. I'm your friend!

    MAN'S VOICE
    You were going too fast, you plan to kill me?

    CALVIN
    I just want to tell you I understand. It's okay, finger's okay. You see?
    (gives finger)
    The finger's okay, you're allowed.

CONTINUED:

MAN'S VOICE
How do I know what you mean?

CALVIN
I want to make things clear.
(shouts)
VERY, VERY CLEAR TODAY!

The Man lowers his window and Calvin reaches in and the Man is afraid again and quickly closes the window on Calvin's hand and Calvin is stuck there and the Man starts his engine and starts the car in motion. Calvin is forced to run alongside the car.

CALVIN
(continuing)
Wait! I want to tell you!
It's okay! I understand. It's my fault! It's okay!

But the car is picking up speed and Calvin is being dragged and tries to hold on against the side of the car, but he can't hold on and he's like a straw dummy being pulled, bounced along the side of the car and the road.

CALVIN'S VOICE
Wait. It's okay,

SHOT - THE DRIVER
It is Beth.

INT. MASTER BEDROOM - NIGHT
Calvin turns and falls out of bed. A loud crash, the bed table being pulled over as he reaches up to it. Beth sits up.

BETH
What's the matter?

CALVIN
It's okay. I fell out of bed.
He starts to laugh.

BETH (putting on her light)
Are you all right?

CALVIN
(sitting up on the floor, laughing)
I'm fine. Isn't that crazy? I fell out of bed. I've never fallen out of bed.
CONTINUED:

He laughs as he gets to his feet.

    BETH
    Were you dreaming?

    CALVIN
    Yeah, but I forgot it.

He sits on the side of the bed.

    BETH
    Did you hurt yourself?

    CALVIN
    (trying to remember)
    What was I dreaming? I've never fallen out of bed.

He sits there trying to catch his breath. His laughter gone. He's bothered now.

INT. BERGER'S OFFICE - BERGER, CONRAD

    CONRAD
    Something else keeps gnawing at me -- Do I have time? I need more time today.

    BERGER
    You have a minute.

    CONRAD
    I can't put my finger on it... it's like when I came home the first day from the hospital she had a picture of me on the dresser, I was in a bathing suit, the same one I had on when I was with Buck, why would she put that there? Why would she want to remind me?

    BERGER
    What makes you think she wanted to remind you of anything?

    CONRAD
    It's terrible, isn't it?

    BERGER
    I didn't say that. (CONTINUED)
CONTINUED:

CONRAD
It isn't right, though, is it?
(pause)
She didn't tell me to kill my self, did she?
(silence)
Did she?

Silence. Conrad gets tears in his eyes.

CONRAD
(continuing) Would she?
(then a whisper)
Could she?...

He shakes himself in some strange way and comes out of the feeling, raising his arm and moving around the room and making a strong noise that denies the feelings.

CONRAD
(continuing) Time's up, right? Right?
Time's up?

No answer from Berger. Then:

CONRAD
(continuing; shouts)
TIME'S UP!

BERGER
(gently) Time's up.

is standing by a tree, his face is slightly twisted. He has a cane.

GRANDMOTHER
All right, now Cal and Beth.

Conrad moves away and it's just Calvin and Beth. Grandmother takes the picture. Calvin gives Beth's cheek a big kiss.

CALVIN
Conrad, you and your mother.

BETH
No, let's get Grandpa, I'll take you three men...

CALVIN
No, no, Conrad, you and your mother. I need a new picture of you and your mother.

Calvin has moved Conrad to Beth. Calvin takes the camera from the Grandmother.

SHOT - CONRAD AND BETH

THROUGH CAMERA'S EYE - CONRAD AND BETH

CALVIN'S VOICE
Put your arm around her, Con.
Beth, put your arm around Connie.
Okay, mother and son, close together.

BETH Do it.

TIGHT ON CALVIN
looking up once, then back into the lens. He snaps the shutter.

CALVIN
Once more, I moved it!

BETH
Calvin!
FAVOR CONRAD

feeling the tension. Calvin still hesitating.

BETH

Calvin!...

Conrad coughs.

CALVIN

Ready?

Beth breaks the pose and moves to Calvin.

BETH

Come on, give me the camera.

CALVIN

Not 'til I get you and Connie.

She tries to take the camera. Calvin dodges her, playfully.

BETH

Calvin, give me the camera.

CONRAD

(barely audible)

Dad, give her the camera.

CALVIN

I want a good picture of you two.

BETH

Daddy, get up there on the step. Calvin, get up there with Daddy and Conrad. Conrad, help your Grandfather.

(reaches for camera)

Honey? Give me the camera.

CALVIN

Not till I get the two of you.

CONRAD

(shouts, angry)

DAD, GIVE HER THE GODDAMN CAMERA!

Everything stops a moment. Calvin is still, Beth hesitates a moment, then, as if it had never happened, takes the camera. Calvin looks at Conrad and then at Beth, who is now setting the camera. Conrad stands by a tree.

BETH

Go on, Calvin, go on over there.

Looking at Beth, disturbed.

Int. Grandmother's Kitchen - Beth and Grandmother

Making sandwiches and soup.

Beth

I don't think he's happy in school. I don't think people want to be with him. He provokes people. He's not easy.

Grandmother

Maybe he should go away to school... (pause)

... who would make that decision?

Beth

I don't know. I suppose this doctor he sees.

Grandmother

Do you ever talk to him, this doctor?

Beth

No, why would we talk? It's between them. This dish is chipped.

Grandmother

(studies chip)

Perhaps you should talk to him, what's his name?

She holds dish.

Beth

Berger.

GRANDMOTHER

Silence.

GRANDMOTHER

What does Cal think of that? Could you talk to him about that? Does Cal know this doctor?

BETH

No.

She studies the chipped dish.

BETH

(continuing; looking around the sink)

Can you save this? Is there a piece?

INT. JARRETT LIVING ROOM - CALVIN - NIGHT

He is alone. The TV is off. He sits thoughtfully, a drink in his hand, but not really interested in drinking it. After a few moments, we begin to HEAR o.s. a CHORUS SINGING, "SANTA CLAUS IS COMING TO TOWN."

SHOT - JEANNINE AND CONRAD

They look at one another.

EXT. HIGH SCHOOL

Conrad is moving down the steps. Jeannine moving near him.

JEANNINE

Don't you go swimming now?

CONTINUED:

CONRAD
I used to. I don't anymore.

JEANNINE
Oh? Don't you swim as well as you sing?

CONRAD What?

JEANNINE
You're the only tenor who stays on pitch. You really ought to be doing the solo in that Russian thing.

He smiles. Then he starts to laugh.

CONRAD
You're funny. You're really funny.

JEANNINE
I'm serious. You really sing well. I'm getting to know your voice.

CONRAD
How can you hear me sing if you're singing?

JEANNINE
I don't always sing.

EXT. BUS STOP - CONRAD AND JEANNINE

JEANNINE
What kind of music do you like?

CONRAD
(a shrug)
I don't know. Modern Jazz. Folk rock... Whatever's around I guess...

JEANNINE Classicals?

CONRAD
I'm not too in touch with it.

JEANNINE
Do you know Baroque? Teleman? Ortiz?

CONTINUED:

CONRAD

No.

JEANNINE
I'm sorry. I'm just showing off. Why is it always so hard the first time you talk to somebody.

CONRAD
You make it look easy.

JEANNINE
My palms are sweating.

CONRAD
Mine, too.

The bus pulls up.

JEANNINE
Gotta go.

(getting on the bus)
Thanks for talking. And you're really a terrific tenor.

CONRAD
(singing tenor)
Ahhhh, you're just saying thaaaaat!

The bus door closes and the bus pulls away.

CLOSE SHOT - CONRAD

He watches the bus go, then quietly he begins to sing a tenor's note. He's serious and barely audible.

INT. CONRAD'S BATHROOM - SHOWER

Conrad singing at the top of his lungs.

CONRAD

Hallelujah!

SHOT - THE STARS, PLANETS

The Milky Way, Saturn, Venus, Mars. Mozart's MUSIC.

VOICE
Under this dome you may see the unmarred skies of the world, or, in imagination, go beyond the moon and into outer space. Or see beauty far beyond the range of the naked eye.

CONTINUED:

The skies of the Planetarium continue to expose all. Planets appearing, disappearing, the sun and the constellations, appearing, gone, reappearing, the MUSIC continuing.

VOICE
(continuing)
The large magellanic cloud lies outside our own galaxy at so great a distance that we see it by light which left over 160,000 years ago. It is about 20,000 light years across and is separated from its neighbor by about 50,000 light years.

And OVER this, we begin to HEAR:

CONRAD'S VOICE
I guess I'd always gone there.
I liked the idea of it. The voice would always go on about things invisible to the naked eye... I felt safe there somehow...

CAMERA PANS DOWN to SHOW the outline of some faces, particularly Conrad and Jeannine's as they look up at the dome's ceiling.

CONRAD'S VOICE
(continuing)
I wanted to be with her... I wanted to touch her.

Silence. He stares at her from the corner of his eye as she looks up at the galaxy.

SHOT - IN SIMI-SHADOW - BERGER

BERGER

Did you?

SHOT - CONRAD

CONRAD

No.

BERGER

What did you feel in the dream?

CONRAD

I wanted to touch her arm... I felt embarrassed.
(lowers his head)
I was afraid it would make her sick.
HERGER
Why would it make her sick?

Silence.

BACK TO SCENE

The Mozart...

CONRAD'S VOICE
I don't know.

HERGER'S VOICE
Maybe because you're some little pissy-assed brother who thinks he's nothing worth touching. Maybe you just figure you make everybody sick. Why not. Who wants you? It's the other one she loves.

SHOT - CONRAD

looking down into his lap.

HERGER'S VOICE
Who're you angry at?

CONRAD
I'm not angry.

HERGER'S VOICE
What do you feel?

CONRAD
(pause)
Nothing...

SHOT - JUPITER

The Mozart continues.

VOICE
Jupiter has twelve moons. It takes nearly twelve years to orbit the sun. To the naked eye, Jupiter appears as a brilliant orb, but through a telescope a wealth of detail is visible...
EXT. JARRETT HOUSE

Conrad and Calvin drive up with a Christmas tree tied to the roof of the station wagon.

INT. JARRETT HOUSE

They bring in the tree.

CALVIN
(calling)

Honey!

They lay the tree in the middle of the living room.

CALVIN
(continuing; calling)
Beth?
(to Conrad)
Let's stand it up.

CONRAD
I'll get the stand, can you hold it?

CALVIN
Uh-huh.
(calls)
Hey! We've got the tree, Beth?

INT. CELLAR STAIRWAY

Conrad moving down.

INT. LIVING ROOM

Calvin holding the tree. Turning it in different directions.
He turns, reacts to o.s.

HIS P.O.V. - BETH

on the steps. Staring at the tree.

FULL SHOT

CALVIN
Hey! I didn't see you. What do you think?

BETH (cool) Looks fine.

CONTINUED:

CALVIN
They're so skimpy this year, Rawlins used to have such great full Scotch pines, they all look like skeletons in there. It's not bad, though, is it? We got it from the Scout Troop, now I know why Wyatt Smith has controlling interest in IFB, you should see him running those kids over there.

Conrad moves back into the room with the metal tree stand.

CONRAD (looks at Beth)
Hi. What do you think?

BETH
It's very nice.

CALVIN (aware of her coldness)
What's wrong?

BETH
What's wrong? Why don't you ask him what's wrong. Then you won't have to hear it from Carole Lazenby.

Hear what?

CALVIN
Conrad quit the swim team.

What?

BETH Carole Lazenby thought I knew, after all, why wouldn't I? It happened over a month ago.

Quit? Why?

Conrad stands perfectly still.

CALVIN
(continuing)
Where have you been every night?

(CONTINUED)
CONRAD
Nowhere. Around. The library, mostly.

CALVIN
Why didn't you tell us?

CONRAD
I don't know. I didn't think it mattered.

CALVIN
What do you mean, why wouldn't it matter, of course it matters, I mean it matters that you --

BETH
That was meant for me, Calvin.

CALVIN
What was meant for you?

BETH
It's still important to try to hurt me, isn't it?

CONRAD
Don't you have that backwards?

CALVIN
Wait a minute, what's going on?

BETH
And how do I hurt you? By making you look like a fool in front of a friend? Poor Beth, oh, poor, poor, Beth, she has no idea what her son is up to, he lies and she believes every word of it.

CONRAD
I didn't lie!

BETH
You did. Every time you came into this house at six-thirty you lied.

(pressing her hands to her head)
If it's starting all over again, the lying and the disappearing for hours, the covering up -- I won't stand for it! I can't stand it, I really can't.

(Continued)
CONRAD
Don't then! Go to Europe, why don't you? That's where you want to go, isn't it? Or why don't you go to hell.

CALVIN Connie!

CONRAD
(backing away)
The only reason she cares, the only reason she gives a fuck about it is because someone else knew about it first! She never cared. She only wanted me to leave her alone. Well, I left you alone, didn't I? Home at six-thirty, that should've made you very happy.

CALVIN
Stop it, Connie.

CONRAD
Tell her to stop it! You never tell her a goddamn thing! I know why she never came out to the hospital, she was going to goddamn Spain and goddamn Portugal, why should she care if I was hung up by the goddamn balls out there!

BETH
Maybe this is how they sit around and talk at the hospital but we're not at the hospital.

CONRAD
You never came to the hospital, how would you know about the hospital?

CALVIN
She did come to the hospital, Conrad, you know that.

CONRAD
She never saw me in the hospital!

CALVIN
She got sick in the car, I told you that. Your mother was getting the 'flu, it just worked out badly, it wasn't a good idea for her to come in. We asked the doctor there and he said your mother shouldn't come in if she had 'flu.
CONRAD
She'd have come in the hospital if Buck had been in the hospital, she wouldn't have had any 'flu if Buck had been in the hospital.

BETH (fast, sharp)
Buck never would have been in the hospital.

Silence! Then quickly:

CALVIN
That's enough! THAT IS ENOUGH!

Conrad fixes them both with a look of fury. And then fast, he goes upstairs. The shattering SLAM of his bedroom DOOR.

CLOSE TWO SHOT - BETH AND CALVIN
Beth has her back to Calvin.

BETH
I won't! I just won't do it again.

CALVIN
What's happening? What the hell happened?

Beth turns away.

CALVIN
(continuing)
Somebody'd better go up there.

BETH
Yes! That's the pattern all right. Let him walk all over us, then go up there and apologize to him. You go up, not me.

CALVIN
I'm not going to apologize.

BETH
Of course you are! You always do! You've been apologizing to him ever since he came home, you just don't see that!

CALVIN
Beth, for crissake, lay off, will you?
CONTINUED:

BETH
Don't talk to me like that!
Don't talk to me like he talks to you!

CALVIN
I'm sorry... let's not fight.

He goes to her. Holds her.

CALVIN
(continuing)
Okay? No fighting, okay?
(pause)
Please. Let's go upstairs.

BETH (pulls away)
You go upstairs. Let him manipulate you, Calvin.

A beat. Then Calvin moves away to the stairs and up.

CLOSE SHOT - BETH sits on the arm of a couch. Then gets up and starts to move somewhere.

INT. CONRAD'S BEDROOM

Calvin enters. Conrad not there. He looks at the bathroom door, opened only a crack. Calvin moves to door quietly, looks in.

ANOTHER ANGLE

Conrad sitting on the side of the tub. Frightened.

CONRAD
I didn't mean it, I didn't mean any of it, I'm sorry, don't be mad.

CALVIN
I'm not mad. I'm just trying to
there.

CONRAD
I don't know what happened! I'm sorry about everything... please!
Tell her will you? Tell her I'm sorry!

CONTINUED:

CALVIN
Why don't you tell her?

CONRAD
No! I can't, I can't talk to her!

CALVIN
Why not?

CONRAD
Because it won't change anything. It won't change the way she looks at me.

CALVIN
Con, she was upset, she was hurt about the swimming, I don't understand it myself.

CONRAD (gets up, into bedroom)
I don't mean just now, don't you see what I mean? Why can't you see it, she doesn't like me, she hates me. And there's nothing I can do about it.

CALVIN (moves back into bedroom)
Your mother doesn't hate you.

CONRAD
All right, you're right, Dad, I just... please leave me alone now.

(pulls off his shirt)
Dad, let me alone.

NEW ANGLE

Conrad falls face down on the bed. Calvin stands over him, looks down at him, helpless. Suddenly we HEAR the STEREO, Nat King Cole SINGING a Christmas carol ("Chestnuts Roasting On An Open Fire").

We remain in the room, Conrad on the bed, on his stomach, his head in the pillow. Calvin listens to the MUSIC, finally turning and moving out the door. Closing it.
INT. STAIRWAY

Calvin moving slowly down the stairs. He stops in the middle of the stairs. Looks o.s.

HIS P.O.V. - BETH

She has brought out the ornament boxes and is working to un-snarl a string of lights.

WIDER ANGIE

Beth looks at Calvin.

    BETH Where're the old Tony Bennett
    Christmas records?

    CALVIN
    (studying her)
    I don't know.

    BETH
    I can't find any of them.

He stands and stares at her and then the tree. Beth reaches for something from one of the boxes.

    BETH (continuing; extending ornament to Calvin)
    Can you fix this angel, her arm came off again.

Calvin takes the angel, Beth returns to the string of lights. Calvin looks at the angel.

CLOSE ON CALVIN

SHOT (HIS MEMORY) - TWO WIDE-EYED LITTLE BOYS

looking at a decorated Christmas tree, a beautifully, divinely perfect Beth is seating the new angel on a branch of the tree.

BACK TO CALVIN

looking at the angel.

EXT. THE HOUSE - DUSK

We HEAR Nat Cole SINGING, as smoke comes from the chimney.
INT. BERGER'S OFFICE

CONRAD
You can't get it out, you know, all that blood on her rug, and her goddamn towels, everything had to be pitched! Even the goddamn tile in the bathroom had to be regrouted. Christ, she fired a goddamn maid because she couldn't dust the living room right, and if you think she's ever going to forgive me --

BERGER
What about your forgiving her?

Conrad stares at him.

BERGER
(continuing)
Come on, it's Christmas time, open the final box, who is it who can't forgive who?

CONRAD
Do you think she's being forgiving?

BERGER
I don't care about that, the fifty dollars is for your shit, not her's.

INT. CONRAD'S ROOM - NIGHT

On his bed. His clothes on. On his back, eyes open. Turns to sleep.

INT. DINING ROOM

They eat. The CLINK of the GLASSES and the SILVERWARE.

CLOSE SHOT - CALVIN

slowly cutting his meat. He bears down too hard, awkwardly, the meat slides off the plate, trying to catch it, his hand knocks over his wine, as Conrad moves his hand to help and knocks over his water glass and Beth is reaching in with a napkin and it's as if it's all been perfectly, comically choreographed and Conrad starts to laugh and he knocks over another glass of water and it is a comedy of errors and they all laugh.

CLOSE SHOT - CALVIN

His laughter. A crazy, manic laugh. He starts to cough. Can't stop.
EXT. LAKE SHORE - SHOT - CALVIN

jogging. It is very cold. A second JOGGER comes up behind him and runs by his side.

JOGGER

Morning.

CALVIN

(breathing hard)

Hah...

JOGGER

Goin' along, my friend? Don't talk, I'll do the talking, build up my lungs, it's jogging talk I couldn't speak while I ran a year ago, now I'm a new man, how's everything at the office, in debt, out of debt, you never know why a man is jogging, that's what interests me the most, why we're out here, do you think it's health, I doubt it, I think it has to do with stuff at home, kids, bad kids. Girls in my house drive me out sometimes. Can't keep up with them, so I get out, they don't make it uncomfortable really, more like a contest the other day between Harriet and Joy, I told Joy to keep her boyfriends from smoking in the car, gives it that smell, you know the smell? You don't have to answer, it's my car, that got Harriet pissed off, she said it's our car, she thinks if they smoke in the car it isn't so bad if they'll only clear out the ashtrays, suddenly Joy began defending me and suddenly it's a brouhaha, so I'm jogging that one off. Last week it's a girl I met in the office, a client, obviously on the make, cute and on the make and me married eighteen years so I'm jogging. Also my head accountant shot his wife three times in the neck, read about it? Disastrous! How's everything in your head?

CALVIN

Okay.

(continued)
CONTINUED:
The Jogger moves off onto another path.

JOGGER

Adios.

They separate.

CLOSE ON CALVIN

CLOSE ON CALVIN

running. TIGHT ON his eyes.

INT. LIVING ROOM (MEMORY)

Beth, Calvin, Grandmother, Grandfather and another couple, AUDREY and WARD. Beth dressed in a green blouse and a black skirt. Her hair tied severely back. She sits on a small chair near the window. Calvin is at the desk. He looks at Beth.

CALVIN

(softly)

I think everybody's been notified.

Beth nods.

GRANDMOTHER

Except Aunt Tess. There's no need to tell her.

CALVIN

Newspaper notice. Who'll write that up? Ward, will you do that?

WARD

Sure will.

BETH

I think it should be private.

CALVIN

He has a lot of friends, Beth.

GRANDMOTHER

It'd be better if it was simple.

CALVIN

I think they'd like to come.

CONTINUED:

GRANDMOTHER
Why not a memorial service at school? Then they could plan something special.

BETH
Yes. Please. Did you call Reverend Rangely?

GRANDMOTHER
He'll be over at two, his son broke his elbow. Audrey, would you go to the church and arrange the flowers?

AUDREY
Mmm hmm.

GRANDMOTHER
Be sure to collect the notes that come with the flowers and write a description of what the arrangement is on the back of the card.

AUDREY
All right.

CALVIN
Would anyone like a cup of coffee?

WARD
Where's Conrad?

CALVIN
I don't know... (moves to entrance of room - calls softly)

Con?... Connie?

BACK TO CALVIN
running. Tiring, but pushing himself. FASTER, FASTER. He slips. Skids on his knee and hands and is up again and continues to run.

INT. EPISCOPAL CHURCH (MEMORY)

The funeral service. Closed casket in view. A small assemblage is there, the choir SINGING a hymn. We can see Beth, Conrad, Calvin, Grandmother and Grandfather.

CLOSE SHOT - CONRAD

He looks dazed, looks around as if for help. PAN TO Calvin looking at Conrad. Beth sits stoically next to Calvin.
EXT. ROAD TO CEMETERY

The funeral procession.

BACK TO CALVIN

jogging. His eyes tearing, perhaps from the wind. CAMERA HOLDS as Calvin runs off slightly favoring his bruised knee. We begin to HEAR a choir SINGING "Joy To The World."

INT. BERGER'S OFFICE - CLOSE ON BERGER

The lighting different on him now. He is in a half shadow, something more dramatic about him. Something more formal, more serious. He sits, looking across the room. He waits.

P.O.V. SHOT - CLOSE ON CALVIN seated.

CALVIN

Conrad won't talk about you, I understand that. I'm sure it's very private here, very personal. You never come up, you're never discussed.

ANGLE PAST BERGER - AT CALVIN

BERGER

You said you could shed a little light on things, why don't you talk about that.

CALVIN

I will. I want to, actually I'm confused and I try to understand what I'm doing sometimes and sometimes it's not so easy to, uh... I make moves you know and I...

His eyes begin to well up. But it's so gradual and it has suddenly stopped him. He smiles, his helpless, needy, very dear smile.

CALVIN

(continuing)

He doesn't have what... it isn't easy for me to admit, but she doesn't, his mother, doesn't give him a great deal of affection. I don't mean to put my wife down. She's a very wonderful woman.

Did she give Buck much affection?

Oh, God, she loved Buck. Bucky got so much, you know, Bucky was very much like her, you know, and he was a remarkable boy, everybody had a place for Buck, it would be unreal to deny that. Bucky and Beth, they were like... one... inseparable.

And you?

Me? Oh, I loved Buck.

Of course, I realize that. What I meant was Mrs. Jarrett's affection.

For me? You mean?

Yes.

Oh, yes, she's very, there's no problem with her for me, we've been married going on twenty-one years, everybody loves Beth. But for Conrad... It's uh... it's very difficult for him. Does he talk about that? We don't know what he talks about here. It never comes up.

What do you want to talk about here?

About Conrad?... I'm here about Conrad. Is that what you mean?

Silence. Then Berger leans in.

Does your wife know you're here, Mr. Jarrett?

CALVIN

No.

BERGER

Any reason why?

CALVIN

I didn't think it was necessary to tell her, nothing to gain by it, from it.

BERGER

Do you think she'll be willing to come here?

CALVIN

Oh, well... I don't know. I didn't mention it to her, I don't know, I --

BERGER

I think it'd be a good idea.

CALVIN

(nervous laugh)

I don't know.

BERGER

I think if you and your wife could sit down together here, it would be a good way to save a lot of time.

Silence. Calvin looks at him, then looks down, then back at Berger, then he smiles. Then he laughs.

CALVIN

I don't know.

(more laughter)

Oh, boy... I don't know.

EXIT. THE LAKE SHORE - DUSK

Calvin jogging. He runs hard. He stops by a tree. Looks out at the water. He thinks.

INT. COMMUTER TRAIN - MOVING

Calvin looking out the window.
SHOT - CONRAD (MEMORY)

CONRAD

I mean she can drive you nuts, can't she?

SHOT - HEAD ON - THE ENGINE

moving at CAMERA.

INT. MASTER BEDROOM - NIGHT

The lights out. Silence. Calvin awake. We can barely make them out. Finally:

CALVIN

(softly)

This'll sound strange.

BETH

Mmmmm.

CALVIN

What I'm going to say will sound strange to you.

She looks at him.

CALVIN

(continuing; without looking at her)

Could we talk about Buck's funeral?

BETH

What?

CALVIN

I know this seems trivial, but it's on my mind, or has been, and I just want to talk about it.

BETH

Why?

CALVIN

When I was getting dressed for Buck's funeral --

BETH

Are you awake?

CALVIN

Just let me get it off my chest.

BETH
What could getting dressed for Buck's funeral possibly have to do with anything right now?

CALVIN
I was wearing a blue shirt and you said wear a white shirt and the other shoes and at the time it was nothing —

BETH (sits up)
What's wrong with you, Calvin?

CALVIN
It always seems to stay with me and I've for some reason been thinking about it and it occurred to me what difference did it make what I wore to Buck's funeral.

In a quick move, Beth gets out of bed, puts on her robe.

CALVIN
(continuing)
Hear me out, it won't hurt you to listen.

BETH
I won't listen to that, no one in their right mind would listen to that.

CALVIN
I just want to talk about something I always remember.

BETH
Why would you want to remind me of it?

CALVIN
Because I've always wondered in some needling way what it mattered what I wore, I was crazy that day, we were going to our son's funeral and you were worried about what I wore on my feet. I know it sounds like nothing to you, but it sticks with me and I just have to tell you about it.

(continued)
BETH (silence, then)
All right. Now you've told me about it.

Silence. HOLD ON the darkness.

INT. KITCHEN - BETH

The PHONE RINGS. Beth answers it. Through the window she can see Calvin trimming the tree branch.

BETH (into phone)
Hello?... yes, Liz, how are you? ... Super... Well when do you pick up Christopher?... Uh huh... Then who's doing Town Topics this week?... That'll be fun. I look forward to it... Okay, dear. 'Bye...

SHOT THROUGH WINDOW - CALVIN working on the tree.

SHOT - BETH

moving out of house to car in driveway. She has her purse. She looks at Calvin, who is sitting in a chair, looking at the tree. She hesitates, then moves up behind him. Leans down.

CLOSE SHOT - BETH, CALVIN

She speaks softly into his ear.

BETH
I'm going to the store, and you're having trouble, and it's all going to frizzle away. And we were all crazy that day. You don't own that day.

She kisses him on the temple and turns and moves to her car. He watches her go.

HIS P.O.V. - BETH

moving to her car. Her perfect figure. All the easy grace of her movements.

INT. BETH'S CAR

as she drives. The RADIO ON. MUSIC. She looks for new stations. Sticks with each for only a moment, then suddenly turns it off. She's not at ease. She turns on the RADIO again.
EXT. TOWN - SHOT - BETH

Christmas shopping.

INT. DEPARTMENT STORE - BETH shopping, never meeting anyone's eye.

INT. CHURCH RECTORY - BETH, MINISTER - DAY

Beth very loose, but not naturally so. Something sensual about the way she sits. We are in VERY TIGHT on her and the MINISTER. They sit very close to one another in straight-backed chairs. They FILL the SCREEN. In PROFILE.

BETH

There's so much talk these days about truth I don't understand why people talk about it so much, I'm truthful, I think, do you think I'm less than honest, Dr. Olds?

MINISTER

(admiring her looks)

I've no reason to think you're not, darling.

BETH

Yet, I feel I'm being attacked. I don't quite know what to do about it.

The Minister is staring at her intently and he is beginning to breathe heavily.

BETH

(continuing)

I'd talk to my mother now, but she's so involved with my father I don't think it's best, so I thought perhaps you would speak to Conrad. I don't like the thought of his going back to the hospital, so I was wondering if he went to a boarding school. Someplace where they could convince him that he has to be more responsible and they could watch him, come up in his studies, after all he'll want to go to a good University. He's so out of touch here, he has such a strange conception of life now, 'it's unusual for a boy like him to have such a short comprehension of what's necessary to survive in his own family.
CONTINUED:

The Minister is breathing with more difficulty. Begins to wheeze.

BETH
(continuing)
Calvin gets so confused, too.
I always feel so sorry for Calvin because he wants to help Conrad and he can't, the difference between wanting to help and actually helping somebody...

The Minister's wheezing is worse. He puts his hand on Beth's arm.

MINISTER
I can understand your frustration, darling.

BETH
No! It's not my frustration, it's needing someone to talk to Conrad.

MINISTER
I see what you mean. I know it hasn't been easy for any of you to deal with Buck's death.

BETH (sharp, defensive)
No! It's not Buck's death. This has nothing to do with Buck's death. Calvin and I are fine about Buck's death, what is not fine is Conrad. He's in trouble and he thinks he's getting help talking to some sensitive Jewish doctor twice a week.

MINISTER
Jewish doctors have a knack

BETH
I'm afraid this one has no knack.
All I'm asking is that you talk to him and suggest it would be a good idea to go away to school.
Just offhandedly.

(pauses - reaches for his hand)
I hope you'll do that.
MINISTER
I don't think it's my place to tell him to go away. Are you wearing Alpaca?

BETH My sweater.

MINISTER
I get asthma from Alpaca and certain goat skins. Excuse me.

He takes an asthma medi-haler from his pocket, turns his head and puts it in his mouth, sprays it into his lungs, then he turns back to her, waits a moment as she watches. Finally his breathing is all right.

MINISTER
(continuing) Sorry... Now... we were...

BETH
I'd like you to talk to Conrad.

MINISTER
You're right. I certainly should hear his side of things. If he wants to come in.

BETH
I thought perhaps you'd come to the house for dinner one night.

Silence.

MINISTER
I've always enjoyed your cooking, darling, but where Conrad's concerned, I think he should come to me on his own.

She tightens. Then nods. Then he takes her hand.

MINISTER
(continuing)
You seem so tense. It's unlike
you. I want you to relax.

He slowly rubs her hand.

INT. LIBRARY

Conrad in an aisle looking at books. He reacts to o.s. A pretty, dark-haired woman is staring at him.
CONTINUED:

The WOMAN is well-dressed, good figure. In her mid-thirties. Conrad turns away. He moves down the aisle. Turns and looks again. The Woman is still staring. Conrad watches a moment longer this time, then he moves away to the next aisle. The Woman continues to appraise him.

SHOT - CONRAD

checking out his books.

EXT. LIBRARY PARKING LOT

Conrad moves out and along the driveway. The Woman who watched him is standing by the open door of her Karmann Ghia. She has put some books in and turns and sees Conrad who looks at her a moment. Then:

    WOMAN
    I embarrassed you in there, didn't I. I'm sorry.
    (pause)
    You're very good-looking. But I'm sure you already know that.

She smiles at him, gets in her car and drives away. Conrad remains in the parking lot. He watches her go. A nice little smile begins to build.

INT. CONRAD'S BATHROOM

INT. BERGER'S OFFICE - CONRAD, BERGER

Coffee and sweet rolls on the table.

    BERGER
    So, then what happened? C'mon, I'm spellbound. You followed her home and she took you into her bed, right?

    Right.

    BERGER
    Good, how was it?

    CONRAD
    Good. We were there for days.

Where'd she live?

 Uh... little place over by the Dragon Hotel.

 And what did you do?

 ... everything... y'know... the works... tricks.

 Tricks?

 (smiles)

 Mmm.

 Tricky stuff?

 Mmmm.

 Tell me.

 You getting horny?

 Why not?

 She took off her clothes.

 Good start, good start.

 Then I hopped in bed with her.

 Didn't you take off your clothes?

 Yeah, yeah, I did... and then I laid in bed with her awhile...
BERGER

Teased her, huh?

CONRAD

Yeah... she had real nice... bosoms... boobs... soft... nice face... soft bosoms.

BERGER

Mmm hmm.

CONRAD

And then I kissed them... she let me...

BERGER

Uh huh...

Silence.

CONRAD

(loud)

This is a weird game.

Berger smiles and shrugs.

BERGER

It's harmless, but I like your style.

CONRAD

Maybe there's hope for me, huh?

BERGER

Oh, yeah.

CONRAD

Thanks.

BERGER

You know what I think you oughta do? Call somebody up. How about the one in the chorus, she seems like a nice girl.

CONRAD

I don't know how to act, with a girl one-to-one.

BERGER

It's like skiing. The first few times you close your eyes and fake it, hope for the best. Try the girl from chorus, what's her name?

CONRAD
I don't know... Jeannine.

HERGER Jeannine what?

CONRAD
I d'know. Jeannine Pratt.

INT. CONRAD'S BEDROOM

as he pins up a slogan on the wall:

"LIFE IS A GODDAMN SERIOUS BIG DEAL"

CAMERA PANS THE WALL and we SEE, tacked up, a large collection of SELF PORTRAITS, some pen and ink sketches, some colored drawings, some faces displaying great tension, strange half smiles. Another as a clown with orange hair, head tilted, a social outcast, wide open eyes. A tragi-comic mime. Some hands and feet, a few nudes, including the one on the edge of the bathtub, but most prominent is Conrad as a prisoner, pinioned in his own coat, only his head and hands free and visible. One hand's fingers clutching for some hope, the mouth twisted, anguished. And as we MOVE IN CLOSER on the last sketch, we HEAR:

CONRAD'S VOICE
(o.s.)
Bucky! Bucky, hold on!

SHOT - CONRAD AND BUCK - IN WATER - A STORM ON THE LAKE

The two boys holding on to the overturned sailboat.

CONRAD
(crying - screaming)
Buck? I don't want to do this alone! Bucky!

BUCK
Hold on Brother, we'll make it
Brother, it's a breeze!

BACK TO CONRAD'S BEDROOM - CLOSE ON CONRAD in bed. Asleep. Flailing.

CONRAD
(in his sleep)

Bucky!
INT. MASTER BEDROOM - CALVIN, BETH

They lie with their eyes open.

CONRAD'S VOICE
(o.s.)

Buuuuuck!

Silence. They lie and listen. Beth closes her eyes. Calvin turns to her. She turns away.

INT. SCHOOL CORRIDOR

Conrad, tense, waits against a wall. Opposite him a class is moving out of a room. He waits, watches. Jeannine moves out. He watches her, she doesn't see him, moves on. He hesitates some more then moves after her. Faster. Catches up as she reaches her locker, starts to open the lock.

CONRAD

Hi.

JEANNINE (turns)

Hi.

She opens her locker door. We see some pictures on the inside door. A scarf. A violin case. Some books at the bottom. She closes it halfway so that he cannot see in.

ANGLE TO INCLUDE A STUDENT, STILLMAN watching from across the corridor.

CONRAD
(to Jeannine)

Uh... how was your history exam?

JEANNINE

It wasn't so bad. Really kind of easy.

CONRAD

Wow!

JEANNINE

I guess I just studied lucky. I usually flunk Mr. Girelli.

She is putting on her wool hat, muffler and a pea coat. He helps her on with it.

JEANNINE
(continuing)

Thanks.

She closes her locker.

(CONTINUED)
CONRAD

... Listen... uh... Would you be interested in going out with me sometime?

JEANNINE

Sure.

CONRAD

Good... thanks... when?

JEANNINE

I don't know.

CONRAD

Yeah right... uh... I'll let you know.

She nods. They are uncomfortable a few moments. Then:

JEANNINE

Well. Have to catch a bus.
S'long.

CONRAD

Yeah.

She runs off. HOLD ON Conrad who is upset with himself. Suddenly, Stillman comes up behind him. Conrad turns, gives him a blank smile.

STILLMAN

(indicating Jeannine)
Making out with Pratt? Maybe you'll get in her pants, huh?

CONRAD

Do me a favor. Try not to be such a prick. I know it won't be easy for you.

STILLMAN

Man, you're the prick. Guys like you walking around like King Shit, you give me a goddamn pain in the ass. Just 'cause you think we owe something to you just 'cause you been somewhere. You're not your brother y'know!

Something explodes inside Conrad's head and he goes for Stillman. They fight.

CONTINUED: (2)

Conrad's cruel face, biting his own lip as he grabs Stillman's head and to the ground, rolling with his body over and over as he punches his face, he lets out a SCREAM each time he lands a blow, a horrendous SCREECH that is fraught with the pain and the others watching are more aware of those sounds than the fight itself and Lazenby moves in and grabs Conrad, pulls him away.

Stillman is desperate to get free and rolls away and gets up quickly and points at Conrad.

STILLMAN
You're crazy, man. That boy is crazy, get him back where he came from, you're insane, Jarrett, that's right, you kill yourself before you kill somebody else.

SHOT - CONRAD

getting his breath, trying to get up. Looks off.

CONRAD'S P.O.V. - JEANNINE

at the end of the corridor, watching.

INT. CONRAD'S ROOM

Conrad sitting on a chair in the corner of his room. He looks like a boxer between rounds. His cheek is cut, his eye is swollen. He looks in the mirror. Studies his face, his cut lip.

INT. DEN - MED. SHOT - BETH - NIGHT

sitting cross-legged on the floor, surrounded by gifts and Christmas wrappings and scissors and Scotch tape and ribbons and she looks so beautiful as she stares up past camera. A strange, confused look on her face.

BETH
What do you mean see his doctor?
I didn't know you went to see that doctor. Why would you go to see his doctor?

TWO SHOT - CALVIN, BETH

CALVIN
I told you. To talk about Con.

BETH
Why would you keep that from me.

CALVIN
Because it would upset you.

CONTINUED:

BETH
It only upsets me that you think I should see that doctor. Is this what Christmas is going to be around here?

CALVIN
It's all of us seeing the doctor,
He thought it'd be --

BETH
Let me make something clear?
'Me'... is what you get here.
Don't try to change me. Don't try to influence me with all this whoopie therapy. You and Conrad can go to this doctor. Throw your arms around each other. Spill out your loving guts to each other.
But 'Me', I will not undergo heart surgery because you want me to feel differently about something. I am 'Me' and I am not ashamed of it and I am NOT going to see doctors or counselors or anyone else you might have in mind for me. I didn't try to die in this house and you'd best understand that, do you understand that, Calvin?...

CALVIN
Babe, I'm not asking you to change you --

BETH
I am clean and I am fair and I want my family to have their clothes mended and look like decent people in the streets, and I do not need to see a doctor to be told that it's healthier to look like a beggar, because that's not how I grew up, I like my schedule and my pliers kept in place and I like us to eat together and I like us to go to church on Sundays and if I have trouble hugging everybody the way you do then I admit I'm not perfect, but I'm not ashamed of my heritage and what I've grown to need. I have my rules, Calvin.
Just as I'm sure Doctor Berger has his.

BETH (CONT'D)
And as far as I'm concerned if there's anything this world needs now, it's a family with RULES. This is my family, Calvin, and if there's any chance in hell or Lake Forest for you and me to keep this family together, it'll be understood right here, in the privacy of our home not by running to some kind of specialist every time there's a problem.

Silence. She lowers her head, changes her tone.

BETH
(continuing)
I know you mean well...
(she reaches out, touches his hand)
It's Christmas. I want it to be nice.

CALVIN
I do, too.

BETH (fighting for control)
We need time together, Calvin. You and I. We have to get away. I don't mean London, but for New Year's. Let's go to Houston. Play some golf, spend some time with my brother and Audrey. I've already talked to Mother about it, Conrad can stay with them and please... don't worry about him. For his sake. Don't indulge him.

She leans forward. Her head on his knee. She looks off as she holds onto him, his hand resting on her head. She looks frightened.

BETH
(continuing)
We need time together, okay?

CALVIN
Okay.

BETH (without conviction)
I love you.

CALVIN

TIGHT ON BETH

Frightened. Holds him tighter.

BETH

I need you.

HOLD ON them as we HEAR: "Adeste Fidelis."

INT. JARRETT'S HOUSE - CHRISTMAS MORNING (THE CAROL CONTINUES o.s.)

Around the tree. Conrad, Calvin, Beth, Grandmother and Grandfather. Gifts have been opened, a set of golf clubs, records, trays, watch box, a sweater, a vase, clothing, etc., etc. Conrad is wearing a sweater, has a scarf around him. New Adidas. Conrad hands Beth a gift. She opens it, it's one of the self-portraits. A complicated, distorted figure. Needy.

GRANDMOTHER
What interesting work.

CALVIN
It's a self-portrait.

GRANDMOTHER
It's remarkable. Your use of th...

GRANDMOTHER
(looking)
My, well now, isn't it, though?

Calvin picks up his gift.

CALVIN
(opening it)

Here we go. Another Jarrett original, I'll bet.

He has it open. And it's another self-portrait. The one we saw earlier, in the straight jacket. They ahh and ooh, etc.

INT. DINING ROOM - CHRISTMAS DINNER TABLE

Beth standing alone at the table, checking its appointments, then she turns, moves toward the living room.
at the family in the living room.

BETH

(a big smile)

Dinner's ready.

She turns back and Grandmother is already bringing in a soup tureen.

NEW SHOT - DINING ROOM - CHRISTMAS DINNER

First silence. Then:

GRANDMOTHER

Edith Meyers' mother is in town and I saw her at lunch yesterday and she was talking about Lake Forest women. She was comparing the women here to the women in Philadelphia and Boston and...

INT. AIRPLANE - IN FLIGHT - FAVOR BETH AND CALVIN

Beth reading a book, Calvin reflective as he looks out the window.

GRANDMOTHER'S VOICE

(continuing)

... She said she thinks Lake Forest women are better educated than Philadelphia women, better looking than Boston women or was it better looking than New York women?

BETH'S VOICE

Calvin, what do you think? Are we better looking than women in New York?

GRANDMOTHER'S VOICE

Calvin never looks at other women, do you, Calvin?

He continues to look out the window. Then he turns and looks toward Beth. She continues to read. He looks about the cabin and sees a couple, the woman scrunched up and asleep into her husband's shoulder, her hand flapped on the upper part of his leg, and other people, some talking, some not, some close together, some not. He looks back out of the window again. Thoughtful. Beth looks at him a brief moment out of the corner of her eye, then back to her book.

EXT. HOUSTON AIRPORT

to establish. A white Buick sedan is pulling away.
INT. WHITE BUICK SEDAN - WARD, AUDREY, CALVIN, BETH

Calvin and Beth in the rear, Ward (Beth's brother) and his wife, Audrey, in front. The car pulling away from the airport.

WARD
(Texas drawl)
Some airport, huh? Ten thousand acres of concrete, when we get home we'll break out the Coors and celebrate the company, beautiful day tomorrow you'll shoot a big seventy-one.

AUDREY
He's been trying to shoot a big seventy-one ever since he moved to Texas, you look good, you two.

WARD
I've been trying to shoot a big eighty-one!

BETH
Ward, where'd you get that drawl?

AUDREY
He got it when he joined the country club.

BETH
It gets worse every year.

WARD
Glad to see you so cheerful, Sissie? Things goin' normal now?

BETH
We're handling things just fine.

AUDREY
And Connie? Everything A-okay?

WARD
Mom says he sees a doctor twice a week. That must keep you busy at the office, Cal.

BETH
Why am I so hungry?

WARD
'Cause you're in Texas. And you're safe with your little brother. And when we get home we're throwin' steaks on the grill and Audrey'll whip up her famous salad and we'll be in business.

(commences)
Gosh, you guys, it's so good to see you.

Audrey and I decided we're not gonna let you go. Think about it. Not a bad idea. You people moving to Houston, get things started over again for you, think about it.

Ward could get you started in business down here, Calvin.

You bet your sweet bucks I could.

Looking out window, intrigued with Ward's thought.

Jeannine throws a wobbly and very lucky strike.

You're a natural... I give you a big X.

I'm a Gemini.

Is that good?

No, I'm unpredictable. Next time I might hit the wrong alley. What are you?

January tenth...

Capricorn. Good sign.

Why?

Dutiful. Responsible, serious, and capable.
CONTINUED:

Conrad bowls and gets three.

JEANNINE
(continuing)
And a bad bowler.

He returns to note his score. She is sitting next to him. He looks at her. She smiles at him. He leans to her, wants to kiss her cheek. Silence. Finally.

CONRAD
Would you like to go out again next week?

JEANNINE
Uh huh.

She waits, then kisses him on the cheek, then quickly she's up and takes her ball and without even thinking throws it down the lane, but it lands in the adjoining lane and rolls down the alley and makes a strike.

Conrad jumps up and claps his hands and the whole place is jubilant, and Jeannine is embarrassed.

INT. A HALLWAY - JEANNINE'S HOUSE - CONRAD AND JEANNINE - NIGHT in silhouette. They stand close. It takes a long time, but finally they kiss. They hold onto one another.

JEANNINE
(whispers)
I know you're a tenor... but you kiss like a baritone.

ANGIE ON CONRAD

His enormous grin. Then he looks at her and they kiss again. This time it is desperate. The need for both of them is clear.

INT. BERGER'S OFFICE - CONRAD, BERGER

CONRAD
I like her. She's pretty... no, that's not fair, she's more than that, she makes me feel good, she has this life in her voice and when she talks to me it's as if she really wants to talk to me, and I guess I just don't believe that.

CONTRUED:

BERGER
(stands up and SCREAMS)
Ooooh, Jesus, you had to fuck it up!

CONRAD Huh?

BERGER
You don't believe she really wants to talk to you, what're you wasting your time with her for?

CONRAD
I don't know, I like what I hear, I like what she says.

BERGER
Then enjoy it if you like it, schmuck.

CONRAD
I think she likes me, I didn't say she didn't like me.

BERGER
(mimicking him)
'It's as if she wants to talk to me but I just don't believe it.' That's what you said.

CONRAD Well...

BERGER
Well, shit! Why don't you believe it? Who ever told you you can't believe it?

CONRAD
Nobody, it's just the way I feel.

BERGER
How? Tell me how you feel.

CONRAD
Like it won't last, like she says something nice, but it won't last and she'll want somebody else, or she likes me, but maybe not enough, maybe less than I want her to.

BERGER
How do you know how much she likes you? How do you measure that? You got some kind of a meter that nobody else gets? How much do you want her to like you?

A lot.

BERGER
How much?

A lot.

BERGER
Do you want her to love you?

CONRAD
Sure... I don't know... sure...

BERGER
Tell her you want her to love you. Go on, tell this wonderful touching girl with the life in her voice who makes you feel good you want her to love you.

CONRAD
I don't know how to do that!

BERGER
Just start with the words. 'I want you so love me.' Say that!

CONRAD
I want you to love me.

BERGER
'I want you to love me because I'm Conrad':... go on, say that.

Conrad stares at him.

BERGER
(continuing) Say the words.

CONRAD
You're nuts! I'm not going to say that to her.

(continued)
BERGER
(shouts)
Just say it in here, you want your fifty bucks' worth?

CONRAD (loud)
I want you to love me.

BERGER
'Because I'm Conrad.' Say it again!

CONRAD
(shouts at Berger)
I want you to love me because I'm Conrad.

BERGER
Again.

CONRAD
(shouts again)
I want you to love me because I'm Conrad. Jesus Christ, man, you're out of your friggin' mind!

BERGER
Now just say it slow, simple. 'I want you to love me... because I'm Conrad.'

CONRAD (simple)
I want you to love me because I'm Conrad.

BERGER
Good. Now that wasn't so bad, was it? How'd it feel?

CONRAD
Weird. Very, very weird.

Berger sits back. He stares at Conrad. Then:

BERGER
(a big grin)
Time's up.

CONRAD
What do I do with all this?

CONTINUED: (4)

BERGER
You figure it out. But don't be such a schmuck.

Conrad gets up. Goes to door. Then turns to Berger.

CONRAD
What's a schmuck?

BERGER
A schmuck is a baritone who kisses like a tenor.

INT. GRANDPARENTS' HOUSE - GRANDPARENTS' BEDROOM

They are asleep. Suddenly we HEAR a deep, loud, vocal SOUND.
It resounds through the house. They both are up and frightened. They are out of bed, the Grandmother leading the way.
Grandfather moving slowly behind.

INT. CONRAD'S BEDROOM

His Grandmother at the door. Conrad standing at the mirror.
His Grandfather INTO FRAME in b.g.

GRANDMOTHER
Conrad, did you make that noise?

CONRAD
Yes, Grandmother

GRANDMOTHER
Is something wrong?

CONRAD
Do you mean do I plan to blow up the high school, drown the swim coach, foam at the mouth and go cluck cluck in the streets? No, Grandmother, there's nothing wrong. I'm just fine and do you know what else? It's going to be the best year ever... because --

INT. KITCHEN - NIGHT

Conrad on the telephone. He has poured a glass of beer.

CONRAD
(softly into phone)
Is Karen Mosely there, please.

WOMAN'S VOICE (tired)
No.

CONRAD
I know it's late but would you give her this message that Conrad Jarrett called.
(silence)
Hello?

WOMAN'S VOICE
Yes.

CONRAD
Just tell her Conrad said she was right, it's going to be the best year ever; she'll know what I mean.

A scramble of VOICES from the other end, then a MAN'S VOICE on the phone.

MAN'S VOICE
Who is this?

CONRAD
(sorry he called)
I know it's late, but this is a friend of Karen's from the hospital, Conrad Jarrett --

MAN'S VOICE

Karen's dead.

Karen is dead.

WOMAN'S VOICE
(behind him)

Tell him now! Go on, you goddamn shit, tell him what she did. Tell him, you piece of shit, tell him who had to walk in and find her hanging there, tell him that, tell him.

We HEAR the other phone slam down. Conrad simply stands there, looking off, then around, as if for help.

INT. CONRAD'S BATHROOM

He is at the sink, washing his face with warm water, but moving out into the bedroom, leaving the water running, his hands and face still wet, he is trembling.

TIGHT SHOT - CONRAD

standing. The growing anxiety. Tightening of his shoulders, fast breathing. Then, REMEMBERING:

KAREN'S VOICE

I think what you have to do is believe in yourself. Know who you are. Be a part of something ... this is going to be the best year ever.

Quickly he is pulling on his tennis shoes, then a shirt is swiped up from the chair, put on as he runs from his room.

INT. HALLWAY - GRANDPARENTS' HOUSE - NIGHT

Conrad moving out. Grabbing a jacket as he goes. Opening, closing door.

GRANDMOTHER'S VOICE

Conrad?

EXT. LAKE FOREST STREET - NIGHT - CONRAD walking quickly, without direction. Frightened. We HEAR:

CALVIN'S VOICE

Conrad? CONNIE, OPEN THE DOOR.

SHOT

A glimmer of blood on a wrist, one cut with a blade, then another slash, then another and another, the blood streaming out.

TIGHT ON CONRAD

walking, starting to run. He begin to HEAR wild Spanish MUSIC.

HETH'S VOICE

What has he done? What has he done to himself?

INT. HOSPITAL (MEMORY) - HOT TANGO MUSIC

Karen's legs swing back and forth as she and Conrad and some others sit on benches in a large room, the Spanish MUSIC playing as two of the patients do a complicated and bizarre tango.

TIGHT ON CONRAD

watching the dancers, Karen next to him, smiling, loose, arms over her head, hands wagging, kitten-faced. But Conrad's eyes are into something else as the MUSIC begins to be overtaken by the SOUND of a STORM on the lake.

BUCKY'S VOICE

Get it down! Get the goddamn sail down!
SHOT - SAILBOAT IN A STORM

It is capsizing.

CONRAD'S VOICE

Buck! Bucky!

The mast snaps -- the boat is upturned. We see SHOTS of hands reaching to grab for the hull. Faces being sprayed with water and the voices.

BUCK'S VOICE

Kick off your shoes. We screwed up this time Buddy, he's gonna haul ass over this.

SHOT - BUCK'S FACE

smiling.

BUCK

You got any ideas?

CONRAD

It's not so goddamn funny.

BUCK

Hang on Brother. Don't get tired. Promise?

CONRAD

Don't you either. How long do you think it's been?

BUCK

Take care, Buddy, everything works for the best.

CONRAD

Buck... Bucky! Hold on! Where are you? Can you hear me? BUCKEEEEEEE!

Where are you?

CONRAD
I don't know.

BERGER'S VOICE

Get to the office somehow. Through the back. I'll prop the door open for you if I get there first.

Berger hangs up.

CONRAD (terrified, but too late)
Am I going to be all right?

We HEAR the telephone BUZZING.

INT. BERGER'S OFFICE - BERGER

More rumpled than ever. Unshaven and his hair swirled from sleep, a leather jacket on, earmuffs. He is fiddling with the thermostat. He HEARS the door of the outer office open.
Berger moves to the door, opens it. We see Conrad standing there. Tears in his eyes.

BERGER
Come in, come in, come in.

Conrad does. He moves to a couch, sits. Berger is fiddling with the thermostat again.

BERGER

the thermostat)
You'd think they'd assume there's an emergency now and then.

Thanks.

BERGER
What happened?

CONRAD
(looks up at him - ready to cry)
I need something.

Tell me.

BERGER
I can't!
(begins to sob)
It just keeps coming I can't make it stop.

BERGER
Don't try.

CONRAD
I can't! I can't get through this. It's all hanging over my head.

BERGER
What's hanging over your head?

CONRAD
(sobbing)
I don't know! I need something.

BERGER
What do you need?

CONRAD
I need to, I need to get, get off the hook.

BERGER
What hook?

CONRAD
(suddenly fiercely angry through the tears)
YOU KNOW WHAT HOOK!
(then afraid)
I'm sorry, I'm sorry, I didn't mean to be angry.
BERGER
You were on opposite sides of the boat, you couldn't even see each other. He was a better swimmer than you. He was stronger. He had more endurance. There's no hook.

CONRAD
That's what I don't understand.

BERGER
What do you think you were supposed to have done?

CONRAD
I don't know, something, why'd he let go?

BERGER
He got tired maybe.

CONRAD
Buck never got tired, not before me, he told me not to get tired he told me to hang on and then he let go.

BERGER
Maybe you just wanted to hang on longer than he did, maybe he was always more tired than you were.

CONRAD
That's crazy, he had more to hold on for, that doesn't make sense.

BERGER
How do you know what makes sense for somebody else? The point is it happened.

CONRAD
No, that's not it, that's too simple.

BERGER
You want simple, let me tell you a story. A very simple story about this perfect kid who had a younger brother.

(MORE)

BERGER (CONT'D)

A not-so-perfect kid, and all the time they were growing up this not-so-perfect kid tried to model himself after his brother, the perfect kid. It worked, too. After all, they were a lot alike, and the not-so-perfect kid was a very good actor, listen to me! Then, along came this sailing accident, are you hearing me?

CONRAD

Yes.

BERGER

And the impossible happened. The not-so-perfect kid makes it. The other kid, the one he's patterned his whole life after, isn't so lucky. So, where is the sense in that, huh? Where is the justice?

CONRAD

There isn't any.

BERGER

The justice, obviously, is for the not-so-perfect kid to become the other, perfect kid. For everybody. For his parents, for his grandparents, his friends and, most of all, himself. Only, that's one hell of a burden, see? So, finally, he decides he can't carry it. But how to set it down? No way. A problem without a solution. And so, because he can't figure out how to solve the problem, he decides to destroy it.

(pauses, leans forward)

Doesn't any of this make sense to you?

CONRAD

I don't know, nothing makes sense, I'm scared.

BERGER

A very far-out act of self preservation -- Conrad, do you get that? And do you see the truth that it's okay to be just you?

(CONTINUED)
CONRAD
I don't know what that is anymore.

BERGER
Yeah, you do. The guy is trying so hard to get out, and he's never gonna be the one to hurt you, believe me. Let him talk, let him loose from that fucking closet, let him tell you what you did that was so bad, listen, you know what he'll tell you? You hung on. That's it. That's your guilt. You can live with that, can't you? You hung on.

CONRAD
She hates me for it.

BERGER
Leave her out of it, it's you you got me out of bed for, not her. You! And things are beginning to happen to you, you're coming alive and don't tell me you don't feel it.

CONRAD
Well it doesn't feel good.

BERGER
Well, it is good, because it's you, wonderful, beautiful you, just as good as anyone, believe me, I'm your friend, I love you. It is good. You're alive.

CONRAD
(starts to sob again)
I was beginning to think so.

BERGER
Then what happened, what started all this?

CONRAD
(crying, having trouble talking)
I called... Karen. To tell her I was... feeling good... she... killed herself...

CONTINUED: (5)

Oh, Jesus.

And she was okay.

(gently)

No, she wasn't.

(through the tears)

She said she was okay.

She wasn't...

Into everything at school, and happy, doing 'A Thousand Clowns' she told me it was better, that she was better. I believed her.
It isn't fair.

No. It isn't fair.

Well, what is it, a joke.

And he lowers his head and just bawls. Berger watches him.
Conrad looks up as he continues to cry and half laughs and shrugs at his inability to stop the tears.

Berger watches another moment, then moves next to him. He puts his arms around him and embraces him as Conrad continues to cry.

(continuing;
through the tears)

I know it's late and you're tired... But I gotta talk...
I gotta talk 'bout her.

Okay. We'll talk about her.

And Buck.

And Buck.

And everybody.

Everybody.

I'm so sad. I'm so scared... and sad...(suddenly very angry)
And I'm so angry.

Everything, you're everything.

(still crying)
I don't know what I would've done if you hadn't been here.

You're welcome.

Conrad continues to sob. Berger holding him.

Do you really love me?

(holding him)
I love you, my friend. Count on it.

His compassion.

Calvin, Beth, Ward, Audrey and two Caddies. A cool, clear day. Ward is putting. The others silent as he taps the ball and it's a long shot and it drops into the hole. They all applaud and hooray, etc.

(strutting)
All the way with Ward McCay.

They are all walking back to the club house.

She looks wonderful, he in his yellow trousers, rust shirt, jacket and cap. Audrey and Ward in b.g.
CONTINUED:

BETH
That fifteenth hole's a beauty, isn't it? Audrey took it nicely, didn't you think?

CALVIN
She's okay, isn't she?

BETH
Sorry you didn't win, but Ward's a little freaky over this game.

CALVIN

They walk in silence. Then:

BETH
I've been thinking, we should play more golf together. Maybe our next vacation, strictly golf. Pinehurst, or Myrtle Beach, maybe.

CALVIN
Pinehurst would be nice.

BETH
Or South America, they play golf in South America?

CALVIN
Maybe we could get Con interested in golf.

They continue to walk. Then after a few moments:

BETH
(takes his arm) Reflex action, huh?

CALVIN
What's that?

BETH
Oh, whenever I mention us doing something together... he's there.

CALVIN
I'm sorry. You said vacation. I assumed you meant him too.

BETH
I said together.

She lets go his arm. Silence. They continue to walk.

CALVIN
Look, I'm not trying to do anything but keep --

BETH
There's no point in discussing it, we never agree.

CALVIN
I think there's a point.

BETH
I'm sick of talking. Anyway, he controls you when you're two thousand miles away.

She turns, calls back to Ward and Audrey.

BETH
(continuing)
Can we have a little drink before we go back?

WARD
(in b.g. calling)
'Drink,' yes. 'Little,' no.

They continue to talk. Finally:

CALVIN
He isn't the problem, though, is he?

BETH Isn't he?

CALVIN
No.

BETH
Isn't that why you go around moping and depressed, just the way you used to. As if it helped, being half-alive, dragging everybody else down with you.

CALVIN
What are you talking about?

(Continued)
Beth
About last year. Last spring, when you couldn't answer the phone, couldn't open your mail without wondering if it would be the hospital with more bad news.

Calvin
Why wouldn't I be depressed?

Beth
And blaming me for the whole thing.

Calvin
Hey, come on.

Beth
Well, let me tell you something, he made it as sickening as he could and it's hard to forgive him for it. He wanted to kill me, too, you know, telling me, 'Look, look what you made me do!'

Her voice has gotten louder and Audrey and Ward are becoming aware of it.

Beth
(continuing)
I know how people try to manipulate people, Calvin.

Calvin
Can't you see anything except in terms of how it affects you?

Beth
What does he want me to do? Throw my arms around him when he passes a chemistry exam? I can't do it. I can't respond when someone says 'Here, I just did this great thing, so love me for it!' I can't. It's not in me, am I supposed to be dishonest?

Calvin
I don't think he wants that. He just wants to know that you don't hate him.

(continued)
Beth stops, they are close to the club house. Audrey and Ward not far behind now, within hearing distance.

BETH

(turning on Calvin)
Where did you get that? Is that what he told you up in his room? How could I hate him. Mothers don't hate their sons. I don't hate him. You see how you accept his feelings without question. But you can't do the same for me, can you?

Ward and Audrey are up to them now and Beth sees them but it's as if there's no one there but Calvin.

BETH

(continuing)
I don't know what you want from me anymore, Cal. I don't know what anybody wants from me.

WARD

Honey, nobody wants anything from you. We all just want Cal and Con and everybody, we all just want you to be happy.

BETH

Happy? Ward, you give us all the definition, will you? But first you'd better check on your kids every day to make sure they're good and safe, that nobody's fallen off a horse, or gotten hit by a car, or drowned in that swimming pool you're so proud of!

AUDREY

Beth!

BETH

And then you come and tell me how to be happy. No, I can't see anything except in terms of how it affects me and neither can you, neither does anybody only maybe I'm more honest than the rest of you, maybe I'm more willing to recognize that I do it.

Silence. She stands her ground then turns toward the club house and they all walk slowly together.
as Beth and Calvin fly home. They sit in different areas despite the fact that there are plenty of seats. Every now and again, Calvin looks over at her, but she is calm and cool and unresponsive.

INT. A CHURCH - SUNDAY SERVICE

The congregation sits in splendor and their colors are gay and light and alive and the clothes expensive and perfect. We can see Conrad, Beth, Calvin, Grandparents.

The Minister speaks with grand eloquence:

MINISTER

O Thou who are the Lord of the years, the Potentate of Time; one hundred years in Thy sight are but as yesterday when it is past, but to us it is a long time; a time to remember, a time to celebrate. Bless us as we gather here today looking to our past with pride and to our future with faith.

EXT. THE CHURCH

as CAMERA PULLS UP and begins to PAN ACROSS the town of Lake Forest.

MINISTER'S VOICE (continuing)

We thank Thee for what we have been: A city of homes, a city of culture, a city that has daringly moved ahead. Grant that as we go forward into our second century we may continue with the courage, the vision and the faith of our forebears, to build here a community always mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will. Keep us grateful to those who have gone before us, who have given of themselves and their substance to make us what we are.

SHOT - A BLACK MAN

wetting down tennis courts at a country club.

MINISTER'S VOICE (continuing)

They are with us in spirit in this hour, and we touch hands with them across the barriers of time, in glad remembrance and happy hope. Grant that we may individually and severally leave our town better than we found it...
SHOT - INT. DINING ROOM OF THE COUNTRY CLUB

Tables being set. Floral arrangements on each table. A room with forty tables, beams, great stone fireplace, window overlooking golf course.

MINISTER'S VOICE
(continuing)
... and to Thee be the glory and the Honor and Praise now and forever more...

SHOT - A GOLF CLUB SWINGS
meets ball.

MINISTER'S VOICE
(continuing)

Amen.

THE CONGREGATION

Amen.

INT. COUNTRY CLUB - THE BALLROOM - NIGHT

Set up with the tables and flowers and the place is filled with well-dressed country club Sunday night supper people. The men with coats and ties. A small orchestra is PLAYING "You Light Up My Life."

FAVOR BETH AND CALVIN

moving past tables, Beth as wonderfully vibrant as ever, her arm slung casually over Calvin's shoulder. Playing the role.
They stop at a table.

BETH
Barney, hello... I thought you were holing up these days, hello, Ellie... Thursday afternoon for Kiki, right?

ELLIE
Phyllis is, I'm going to Chicago.

BETH
(to someone else)
Beverly, you did that so nicely, your speech on Tuesday, we'll get those guys you'll see with threats like that.

During this, one of the men at the table has put his hand around Beth's waist though he is talking to someone else at the table.
His fingers begin to "innocently", gently squeeze at her waistline.

BETH

(continuing; to Ellie)

If you see McCutcheon in Chicago, tell him he promised to speak in March.

(to the man with his hand on her)

Eat your greens, Freddie.

She pulls his hand away, and moves on to another table. Calvin moves with her.

SHOT - THE ORCHESTRA

playing a lighthearted version of "Hey Jude."

SHOT - DANCE FLOOR

a dozen or so couples dancing there.

FAVOR CALVIN AND BETH

dancing. CAMERA begins to PULL SLOWLY AWAY as they dance.
They are in the middle of the floor and conversing with other couples who dance by. Finally the SCREEN is FILLED with the entire room, the membership and their VOICES and the combo's MUSIC.

INT. MASTER BEDROOM

Beth in bed. She opens her eyes and looks to see that Calvin is not there. She is disturbed. Lies there. Gets up, finally, moves to the doorway, looks down corridor. No sign of him nor of light from Conrad's room.

INT. DINING ROOM - ANGLE ON CALVIN - NIGHT

in silhouette. His head bent.

CLOSER SHOT - CALVIN

crying.

ANGLE ON BETH

in her robe standing in the hallway outside the dining room.
She watches him for a moment. Then, quietly:

BETH

Calvin?
Calvin remains still. Beth moves in a few steps. She is next to a baker's rack with cigarettes. She takes one. Lights it. With a lighter that works the first time. Surprisingly she takes a deep drag.

BETH

Why are you crying?

He continues to cry. She lets out the smoke. Looks around the room. Looks at his feet, in his untied tennis shoes.

BETH

(continuing)

May I get you something?

CALVIN

I feel so...

He shrugs.

BETH

Well, tell me.

CALVIN

(soft - inaudible)

I don't...

He has said something but we can't make out the words.

BETH

(leaning in)

What did you say?

He continues to cry for a long time.

BETH

(continuing)

Calvin, what did you say?

Calvin's tears ease and he raises his head and looks at her. Studies her.

CALVIN

Oh, you ARE beautiful... and you ARE unpredictable... but you're so cautious... you're determined, Beth, but do you know something? You're not strong... and I don't know if you're really giving... Tell me something. Do you love me, I mean really do you love me?

BETH

You're drinking.

(continued)
CONTINUED:

CALVIN

We'd've been all right if there hadn't been any mess. . . but you can't handle mess. . . you need the easy, tidy way. I don't know. Maybe you don't love anybody. It was so much Buck. And when Buck died I think you buried all your love with Buck, and I don't understand that, I just don't know, maybe you didn't even love Buck. Maybe it was only you, maybe it was finally the best of you you buried. But whatever it's all about, I don't know who you are... and I don't know what we've been playing. . . So I'm crying...

(starts to cry again)

Because I don't love you anymore, and I don't know what I'll do without that.

Beth stares at him as he buries his head and sobs. She is for a brief moment very afraid and that moment touches us, but she recovers quickly and straightens. She looks at the table next to her, at the ashtray and she stubs out the cigarette. She looks at the ugliness of the cigarette for a moment. Then she turns and moves toward the steps. Starts up.

INT. UPSTAIRS CORRIDOR

Beth moving toward the bedroom. Conrad's door is open, Conrad stands there.

CONRAD

What's going on?

Beth stares at Conrad. An anger begins to rise in her and for a moment she looks as if she's going to hit Conrad, but she controls herself.

BETH

(a whisper)

Your Father's crying.

CONRAD

Why?

BETH

Ask him. He'll tell you.

She moves to her door, then stops and turns to Conrad.

(CONTINUED)
CONTINUED:

BETH
(continuing)
I'm going away today, this afternoon I'm going back to Houston to spend some more time with Audrey and your Uncle Ward.

CONRAD
When will you be back?

BETH
(hesitates, then)
I don't know.

CONRAD
Why? What's happened?

She stares at him a moment, then enters her room. Closes the door. Conrad, in his jeans, moves down the corridor to the stairs.

INT. DOWNSTAIRS HALLWAY

Conrad INTO FRAME, PAN WITH him as he moves to living room.
Looks for his father, not there. He moves to the dining room and sees Calvin sitting in the chair by the wall. It's about dawn now. Conrad Looks at his father. His father doesn't see him and he starts to cry again. Conrad remains silent as he walks into the dining room. He sits across the room from his father and watches him as his father continues to cry.
Then he gets up and moves to Calvin who looks up into Conrad's eyes. A moment between them then, just as Berger had done with Conrad, Conrad reaches out and embraces his father.

We HOLD ON them a moment.

EXT. HOUSE - DAY (MORNING)

The pickup truck moves slowly down the street. The man standing in the back tossing morning papers onto the driveways.
It reaches the Jarrett's and the paper spins along the blacktop.
The truck continues, papers being distributed, as we BEGIN to HEAR the choir singing the Episcopal hymn:

CHORUS

Land of our birth, we pledge to Thee
Our lives and toil in the years to be.
When we are grown and take our place
As men and women with our race

CHORUS
(continuing) Father in Heaven who loveth all Oh help Thy children when they call
That they may build from age to age
An undefiled heritage.
